

Physician Is Slightly Hurt In Plane Crash Near City

CRASH SCENE — Dr. Fountain C. Beattie, 44, Upper Arlington, suffered only minor back injuries when this plane crashed yesterday near the St. Joseph's Cemetery near the northern edge of the city. The plane was attempting a take-off from Elsea Airport. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

An Upper Arlington physician escaped serious injury at about 4:15 p. m. yesterday when his four-passenger Model 175 Cessna Airplane crashed on St. Joseph's Cemetery property following a take-off at the Elsea Airport.

Dr. Fountain C. Beattie, 44, sustained a slight back injury as a result of the crash, according to local State Highway Patrol officers. Dr. Beattie refused treatment here and told officers he would be examined in Columbus.

The aircraft fell about 100 feet to the ground following a take-off from the runway at Elsea Airport.

Dr. Beattie told officers the plane's engine cut out immediately after he left the runway. He said he attempted to land the aircraft, but a wing became entangled in some brush which caused the plane to spin around and fall to the ground.

THE Circleville Fire Department was called to the scene, but no fire resulted. Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department also assisted the State Patrol in handling the crash.

A State Patrol spokesman said the Federal Aeronautics Association was investigating the accident today in order to determine a cause for the power failure of the plane.

The FAA has ordered the aircraft to be isolated. It will not be moved until the investigation has been completed.

State Patrolmen said the reason for Dr. Beattie's presence at the Elsea Airport was not determined. They said home base for

Crash Survivors Told of Tragedy

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three children, survivors of a fog-shrouded airplane crash near Georgetown, Ohio, Friday night which took the lives of their parents and a sister, have been told their mother and father are dead.

"Thus far, there hasn't been much reaction," said an attaché at Children's Hospital here, "but that is to be expected in view of their condition."

Killed in the crash were Thomas P. Hughes, 33, of Florissant, Mo.; his wife, Elaine, 31, and their daughter, Marlene, 11. The surviving children are a daughter, Leslie, 8, and two sons, Thomas, 12, and Martin 4. They lay in the wrecked plane for about 12 hours before searchers found them.

Mt. Idy Flash Is Star of State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"These are my-y people!"

That's right, Charlie Weaver, the lovable old rascal and TV personality from fictitious Mt. Idy, Ohio, is in town today to begin a five-day run as the Ohio State Fair's main grandstand attraction. Charlie—his real name is Cliff Arquette—more than likely will be reading some of his "letters from Momma" to the grandstand crowds.

The young folks—and plenty of them were expected at the fair today on Crippled Children's Day—also were to get to view an auto daredevil routine from the grandstand. A special performance for the handicapped youngsters was scheduled for the morning, with the Mt. Idy flash on hand for that, too.

In the afternoon, four days of harness racing gets under way with the opening feature being the $26,000 Ohio State Trot.

For the farm folk, there were the Ohio Ayrshire Futurity, the All American Swiss Futurity and livestock judging of all kinds.

But for the kids, as always, the main attraction is the rides on the fair's giant midway.

Sunday's turnout at the fair was called the largest in the history of the 107-year-old exposition for any single day.

Fair officials said some 200,000 people—including children under 12 admitted free—roamed the grounds.

County Schools Ready To Open Classes Friday

Pickaway County students will return to school for a full day of classes Friday in greater numbers than ever before. County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell noted this today as teachers and administrators prepare to begin the 1961-62 academic year.

Principals will meet at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow with McDowell to review general administrative procedure. All faculty members will convene 9 a. m. Thursday at their respective schools to set things in order for Friday's "invasion."

An exact tabulation of students to be enrolled this year in the county educational system will not be available until after schools have actually begun operation and rosters are checked. However, McDowell said a rise in enrollment "may be anticipated."

Teachers will face their charges Friday bolstered by a 64-page Opening of Schools Bulletin issued by McDowell's office.

Neues Deutschland, organ of the East German Communist party, said in a front-page editorial: "It should be clear that negotiations about the German problems without the (East) German Democratic Republic are unthinkable."

The editorial said it should be clear now to everybody—after the slamming down of the Iron Curtain through Berlin—that East-West talks are inevitable. Such talks would have to be on a peace treaty for both East and West Germany or, if the West should refuse that, a peace treaty with East Germany, the Red Organ asserted.

Neues Deutschland said that if a separate peace treaty is signed with East Germany—as Soviet Premier Khrushchev has promised to do by the end of the year—all nations who want to use the land and air links between West Germany and West Berlin will have to make bilateral agreements on the subject with East Germany.

"Nobody should have any doubt, there will have to be bilateral talks and bilateral agreements on access to West Berlin," the paper said.

It added: "We are prepared to give any necessary guarantee that rightly can be expected from us against any violation of the free city status of West Berlin."

The Communist paper added, however, that the Red regime would demand "guarantees for the undisturbed peaceful life of our (East German) citizens, guarantees that West Berlin won't be turned into a center of subversion against the peaceful construction of socialism in our republic."

The Western Allies have always refused to negotiate with the East German government, contending that it was imposed illegally by the Soviets and is kept in power by the Red army.

Germany Says West Ready To Demand Berlin Parley

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Western Powers will demand in the next few days a conference with the Soviet Union on the Berlin crisis, Heinrich Von Brentano, West German Foreign Minister, said today.

Brentano told a news conference such talks are needed to make clear the positions of both sides before a catastrophe develops.

He said the talks should be on the foreign minister level.

Meanwhile, the East German Communists demanded a voice in any East-West talks on Germany and said the subject of such talks could only be the conclusion of a peace treaty.

Passenger Injured in Car Crash

A Columbus woman was taken to Berger Hospital at 10:45 a. m. yesterday following a one-car accident about four miles north of Circleville on Route 23.

Mrs. Frank Stewart, 37, was treated for abrasions of the left foot and abrasions and contusions of the left shoulder.

Mrs. Stewart was a passenger in an auto driven by Charles Thomas Rice, 19, also of Columbus.

The East German Communists charged a group of West Berlin youths crossed the East German border Sunday night and were driven back by warning shots and water cannon.

West Berlin police said a patrol cruiser in the area heard several shots but they could not confirm the border crossing.

East German police also turned a water thrower on a crowd of some 800 jeering West Berlin youths milling close to the concrete wall thrown up by the Reds between West and East Berlin. The crowd retaliated with rocks and U.S. troops and West Berlin police finally drove the crowd back.

The two isolated skirmishes were the only incidents reported on an otherwise quiet Sunday. American, British and French troops patrolled the barrier, with the big guns of U.S. tanks pointing across the wall.

But Communist armor, moved up two weeks ago, was withdrawn from sight of the border. East German border guards and police on patrol in the heart of the city were armed only with pistols. In the suburban areas Communist guards patrolled the fences with rifles.

Jet Pilot Dies as Plane Crashes Store

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP)—A jet plane coming in for a landing at the Willow Grove naval air station Sunday crashed through the roof of a department store a half-mile from the runway. The pilot was killed and between 30 and 35 persons injured.

Navy authorities launched an investigation into the cause of the crash which killed Lt. Cmdr. Robert Haven, 36, of Columbus, Ohio, a reservist described as a "veteran with 4,000 flying hours and the best pilot in his squadron."

Officials said there were 75 to 100 shoppers and 30 to 40 employees in the discount store operated by a chain known as Bargain City, USA. Less than one-fourth of the departments were open, due to Pennsylvania's blue laws which permit only sales of certain essential merchandise on Sundays.

All the injured, including four firemen, were treated at nearby Abington Memorial Hospital and released with the exception of Meta Kennedy, 52, of Horsham, Pa.

Fire Chief Samuel Salerno, of nearby Horsham, who directed 400 civilian firemen, said the Navy FJ3 Fury fighter landed in a section of the store in which the departments were closed.

Ohio Weekend Traffic Toll! Zooms Up to 23

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was almost as if the Labor Day weekend traffic carnage had started seven days early. Last weekend's highway toll in Ohio stands at 23 known dead. It was the second highest non-holiday weekend toll of the year. Highest was May 19-21 when 25 were killed.

In addition to the 23 highway deaths last weekend, four persons died in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 27.

Military Chiefs Appear To Hold Firm Control

Army Boss Opposes Leftist Goulart; Talks With Soviet Shelved

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian vice president Joao (Jango) Goulart waited anxiously in Paris today while Congress bickered over whether to let the left-wing leader take over the government. Amid the confusion created by the sudden resignation of President Janio Quadros, the military appeared in firm interim control in a crisis that brought the nation to the brink of civil strife.

The Foreign Office suspended negotiations with the Soviet Union for restoration of diplomatic relations after a 14-year break—negotiations that contributed to Quadros' downfall and which Goulart wholeheartedly supported.

Moscow Radio charged that the unpredictable Quadros was forced to quit because of the "crude intervention by the United States in Brazil's affairs." Robert Woodward, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs termed the Soviet charge absurd and said: "Our relations with the Quadros administration have been very friendly and cooperative."

War Minister Gen. Odilio Denys, army strongman and a staunch anti-Communist, showed challenging doubts about allowing Goulart, 42, to assume the presidency he inherited with Quadros' resignation.

Goulart Sunday night reportedly sent word to Denys: "I am returning to Brazil to fulfill my duty. You fulfill yours." The message was conveyed through Brazil's ambassador to the United Nations, Francisco Santiago Dante, who talked by phone with the vice president in Paris.

Goulart himself kept in seclusion but an aide said that the vice president "will insist on his constitutional right" to succeed Quadros and wants to get back to Brazil as quickly as possible. But a member of his party said Goulart probably would wait in Paris to confer with members of Congress expected to fly there to discuss the situation.

Goulart, much farther to the left politically than the unpredictable Quadros, is a bitter critic of American capitalism and a strong advocate of closer Brazilian trade and diplomatic ties with the Communist bloc.

The Labor party chief, who won re-election as vice president last year with Communist support, faces opposition from a faction of moderates in Congress and the

Kennedy Gets Discouraging News on Aid, Education Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy got discouraging news today about prospects for his foreign aid and education programs in congressional show-downs this week.

Democratic strategists have about given up hope of salvaging Treasury-borrowing authority the President has sought to finance a five-year development loan program.

They privately agreed with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois who forecast a compromise on a three-year authorization under which the President will have to come back to Congress each year for the actual funds needed to carry on long-range projects.

Democratic leaders plan a parliamentary maneuver Wednesday to attempt to bring before the House a $325-million school construction bill. If they are stalled in that effort, as seems likely, they will have to find some other way to try to meet Kennedy's repeated requests for action on the issue in this session.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference aimed a body blow at the pared-down measure over the weekend. Its education director, Msgr. Frederick G. Hochwalt, called the measure discriminatory because it carries money for public school construction but does not provide aid for parochial and private schools.

With Senate-House conferees scheduled to consider the development loan provision of the foreign aid measure at an afternoon session, the Senate scheduled action on minor bills before taking up a controversial wilderness measure.

The latter bill, approved by the Interior Committee, would establish a national wilderness preservation system to keep unspoiled areas in the West that thus far have not been exploited for their natural resources.

Before the foreign aid conferees are widely divergent versions of the loan program authorization. The Senate voted to give the President authority to borrow $8 billion from the Treasury in the next five years to finance projects in needy nations.

The Senate tacked on a provision by Dirksen calling for congressional review of any loan exceeding $5 million and permitting Congress to veto any project by passage by both houses of a resolution which would not require presidential signature.

The House, on the other hand, voted a one-year authorization of $1.2 billion, with no borrowing authority.

Physician Is Slightly Hurt In Plane Crash Near City

CRASH SCENE — Dr. Fountain C. Beattie, 44, Upper Arlington, suffered only minor back injuries when this plane crashed yesterday near the St. Joseph's Cemetery near the northern edge of the city. The plane was attempting a take-off from Elsea Airport.

An Upper Arlington physician escaped serious injury at about 4:15 p. m. yesterday when his four-passenger Model 175 Cessna Airplane crashed on St. Joseph's Cemetery property following a take-off from the Elsea Airport.

Dr. Fountain C. Beattie, 44, sustained a slight back injury as a result of the crash, according to local State Highway Patrol officers. Dr. Beattie refused treatment here and told officers he would be examined in Columbus.

The aircraft fell about 100 feet to the ground following a take-off from the runway at Elsea Airport.

Dr. Beattie told officers the plane's engine cut out immediately after he left the runway. He said he attempted to land the aircraft, but a wing became entangled in some brush which caused the plane to spin around and fall to the ground.

THE Circleville Fire Department was called to the scene, but no fire resulted. Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department also assisted the State Patrol in handling the crash.

A State Patrol spokesman said the Federal Aeronautics Association was investigating the accident today in order to determine a cause for the power failure of the plane.

The FAA has ordered the aircraft to be isolated. It will not be moved until the investigation has been completed.

State Patrolmen said the reason for Dr. Beattie's presence at the Elsea Airport was not determined. They said home base for

New Algerian Rebel Bloc To Be Active against France

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—The new Algerian rebel leadership asserted today it will bolster military action against French rule in Algeria, but at the same time reaffirmed that a negotiated solution to the rebellion is still possible.

The statement followed Sunday's announcement of a shuffle in the rebel provisional government, shelving moderate Premier Ferhat Abbas, 62, and replacing him with Ben Youssef ben Khedda, 41. Ben Khedda, virtually unknown outside rebel circles, is farther to the left than Abbas and favors a tougher approach in the war against the French.

The shuffle took place at a meeting of the National Council of the Algerian Revolution (CNRA), a sort of parliamentary body, in Tripoli, Libya.

A communique issued at rebel headquarters here today said: "The decisions of the CNRA dealt principally with the reinforcement of the action of the national liberation army and the mobilization of the Algerian masses."

The CNRA "reaffirmed that a solution is possible within the fundamental principles safeguarding the territorial integrity of the Sahara."

Named as foreign minister in the reshuffle was Saad Dahleb, 42, who took part in the unsuccessful peace talks with France.

The government's Tunis headquarters announced the shakeup in a communique which said Ben Khedda would go as premier to Cairo for a meeting of chiefs of state of the Casablanca group of African countries, then head Africa's delegation to the conference of nonaligned countries at Belgrade beginning Friday.

The shakeup apparently was decided by the policy-making National Council of the Algerian Revolution which has been meeting in Tripoli, Libya.

Rebel leaders who have accused Abbas of being too soft apparently decided the time had come to pick a fighter with more militant views.

If the rebels succeed in wresting control of Algeria under Ben Khedda's leadership, the door presumably would be open to Soviet and Red Chinese penetration.

Ben Khedda was a militant member of the early nationalist movements in Algeria before World War II. At that time he often spoke at meetings of the Algerian Communist party.

The French imprisoned him briefly in 1954 for anti-state activities.

The East German Communists charged a group of West Berlin youths crossed the East German border Sunday night and were driven back by warning shots and water cannon.

West Berlin police said a patrol cruiser in the area heard several shots but they could not confirm the border crossing.

East German police also turned a water thrower on a crowd of some 800 jeering West Berlin youths milling close to the concrete wall thrown up by the Reds between West and East Berlin. The crowd retaliated with rocks and U.S. troops and West Berlin police finally drove the crowd back.

The two isolated skirmishes were the only incidents reported on an otherwise quiet Sunday.

American, British and French troops patrolled the barrier, with the big guns of U.S. tanks pointing across the wall.

But Communist armor, moved up two weeks ago, was withdrawn from sight of the border. East German border guards and police on patrol in the heart of the city were armed only with pistols. In the suburban areas Communist guards patrolled the fences with rifles.

CHS Auditorium Will Be Crowded

Circleville High School's auditorium will be bulging when school starts Friday.

According to school officials, more than 700 high school students are expected for Fridays opener. The CHS Auditorium has only 620 seats.

Richard Snouffer, new high school principal, is scheduled to present an instructional talk to all students Friday in the auditorium. Superintendent George A. Hartman said for the first time in history of the school about 100 pupils will be limited to standing room only.

School will be in session until

Jet Pilot Dies as Plane Crashes Store

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP)—A jet plane coming in for a landing at the Willow Grove naval station Sunday crashed through the roof of a department store and a half-mile from the runway. The pilot was killed and between 30 and 35 persons injured.

Navy authorities launched an investigation into the cause of the crash which killed Lt. Cmdr. Robert Haven, 36, of Columbus, Ohio, a reservist described as a "veteran with 4,000 flying hours and the best pilot in his squadron."

Officials said there were 75 to 100 shoppers and 30 to 40 employees in the discount store operated by a chain known as Bargain City, USA. Less than one-fourth of the departments were open, due to Pennsylvania's blue laws which permit only sales of certain essential merchandise on Sundays.

All the injured, including four firemen, were treated at nearby Abington Memorial Hospital and released with the exception of Meta Kennedy, 52, of Horsham, Pa.

Fire Chief Samuel Salerno, of nearby Horsham, who directed 400 civilian firemen, said the Navy FJ3 Fury fighter landed in a section of the store in which the departments were closed.

Ohio Weekend Traffic Toll ZOOMS Up to 23

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was almost as if the Labor Day weekend traffic carnage had started seven days early. Last weekend's highway toll in Ohio stands at 23 known dead. It was the second highest non-holiday weekend toll of the year. Highest was May 19-21 when 25 were killed.

In addition to the 23 highway deaths last weekend, four persons died in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 27.

Czech Crash Kills 18

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) Eighteen persons were killed and 10 injured in a train crash in northwest Moravia Sunday. It was the third major train disaster within 10 months in Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia.

Military Chiefs Appear To Hold Firm Control

Army Boss Opposes Leftist Goulart; Talks With Soviet Shelved

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian vice president Joao (Jango) Goulart waited anxiously in Paris today while Congress bickered over whether to let the left-wing leader take over the government.

Amid the confusion created by the sudden resignation of President Janio Quadros, the military appeared in firm interim control in a crisis that brought the nation to the brink of civil strife.

The Foreign Office suspended negotiations with the Soviet Union for restoration of diplomatic relations after a 14-year break—negotiations that contributed to Quadros' downfall and which Goulart wholeheartedly supported.

Moscow Radio charged that the unpredictable Quadros was forced to quit because of the "crude intervention by the United States in Brazil's affairs." Robert Woodward, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs termed the Soviet charge absurd and said: "Our relations with the Quadros administration have been very friendly and cooperative."

War Minister Gen. Odylio Denys, army strongman and a staunch anti-Communist, showed challenging doubts about allowing Goulart, 42, to assume the presidency he inherited with Quadros' resignation.

Goulart Sunday night reportedly sent word to Denys: "I am returning to Brazil to fulfill my duty. You fulfill yours." The message was conveyed through Brazil's ambassador to the United Nations, Francisco Santiago Dante, who talked by phone with the vice president in Paris.

Goulart himself kept in seclusion but an aide said that the vice president "will insist on his constitutional right" to succeed Quadros and wants to get back to Brazil as quickly as possible. But a member of his party said Goulart probably would wait in Paris to confer with members of Congress expected to fly there to discuss the situation.

Goulart, much farther to the left politically than the unpredictable Quadros, is a bitter critic of American capitalism and a strong advocate of closer Brazilian trade and diplomatic ties with the Communist bloc.

The Labor party chief, who won re-election as vice president last year with Communist support, faces opposition from a faction of moderates in Congress and the

Small Stone Brings Death to Boy, 5

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Patrick Skeen, 5, died Sunday on the operating table of a Newark hospital despite a two-hour struggle by a team of physicians and surgeons to save him after he had swallowed a small stone.

A tracheotomy—opening of the throat—was performed, but the pebble slipped and got into the lung cavity, eventually causing fatal spasms.

The boy was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Skeen. Skeen is a Newark fire captain.

Kennedy Gets Discouraging News on Aid, Education Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy got discouraging news today about prospects for his foreign aid and education programs in congressional show-downs this week.

Democratic strategists have about given up hope of salvaging Treasury Director's authority the President has sought to finance a five-year development loan program.

They privately agreed with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois who forecast a compromise on a three-year authorization under which the President will have to come back to Congress each year for the actual funds needed to carry on long-range projects.

Democratic leaders plan a parliamentary maneuver Wednesday to attempt to bring before the House a $325-million school construction bill. If they are stalled in that effort, as seems likely, they will have to find some other way to try to meet Kennedy's repeated requests for action on the issue in this session.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference aimed a body blow at the pared-down measure over the weekend. Its education director, Msgr. Frederick G. Hochwalt, called the measure discriminatory because it carries money for public school construction but does not provide aid for parochial and private schools.

With Senate-House conferees scheduled to consider the development loan provision of the foreign aid measure at an afternoon session, the Senate scheduled action on minor bills before taking up a controversial wilderness measure.

The latter bill, approved by the Interior Committee, would establish a national wilderness preservation system to keep unspoiled areas in the West that thus far have not been exploited for their natural resources.

Before the foreign aid conferees are widely divergent versions of the loan program authorization. The Senate voted to give the President authority to borrow $8 billion from the Treasury in the next five years to finance projects in needy nations.

The Senate tackled on a provision by Dirksen calling for congressional review of any loan exceeding $5 million and permitting Congress to veto any project by passage by both houses of a resolution which would not require presidential signature.

The House, on the other hand, voted a one-year authorization of $1.2 billion, with no borrowing authority.

DOOMED—Too young to realize they are doomed, Patricia McFadden (left), 2, and her sister Joan, 4, play happily with their baby doll in their home in San Francisco. Both are afflicted with cystic fibrosis, a disease for which there is no known cure. Their sister, Maureen, 3, died of the same disease last April. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James J. U.N. Clamps Lid On Big Rebel City in Congo

Goal Is To Swing Katanga under Wing Of Central Regime

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.N. troops put Elisabethville under a virtual state of siege and arrested various foreigners today in a move apparently aimed at swinging secessionist Katanga province into the Congo government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Armored cars patrolled the streets.

U.N. detachments seized several key points in President Moise Tshombe's capital, took over the airport to assure the safe arrival of reinforcements and launched a roundup of white officers, chiefly Belgian, in the Katanga army. There were some minor clashes and a scattering of gunshots, but a U.N. representative said nobody was hit.

(In Leopoldville, a U.N. spokesman said the operation was intended to remove all 500 foreign officers from Katanga's army and added: "The operation is going ahead smoothly without opposition and with the full cooperation of the Katanga gendarmerie and police." He reiterated previous denials that the U.N. intended to disarm the entire Katanga army.)

The massive show of strength came only 48-hours after Adoula, whose Leopoldville regime is supported by the United Nations, proclaimed determination to rid this copper-rich province of all foreign civilian, financial and military interests. His chief targets are Belgians, who developed Katanga's mineral, industrial and agricultural resources while the Congo was a Belgian colony and still have millions of dollars invested in its resources.

Indian Brig. Singappa Raja, commander of the U.N. task force, reported the arrest before noon of 68 of the 512 Europeans, serving the Katanga regime in various capacities. About 300 of the white men on the Katanga payrolls are officers of the army—Belgian, French, British, Italian and South African.

There was no interference with press dispatches to foreign cities, but other communication with the outside world was halted.

The U.N. troops put Godefroid Munongo, Katanga's strong man and minister of interior under house arrest by surrounding his residence, but Tshombe drove through the U.N. cordon later and left with Munongo. Tshombe escorted him to his own residence.

Tshombe, to wild acclaim, toured part of the city and asked all to work and remain calm. Moving swiftly at 5 a.m. Swedish and Indian forces occupied the telephone exchange, Elisabethville airport and other key points.

U.N. spokesman Michel Tombelaine said his organization acted to preserve internal security after Congo President Joseph Kasavubu called on it to get rid of some 300 foreign officers serving in the secessionist province's army in defiance of a long-standing U.N. Security Council resolution.

Kasavubu's move appeared to be a prelude to an attempt to take over the province and end Tshombe's long defiance of the central government at Leopoldville. U.N. officials acted under a central government decree requiring immediate removal of all foreign military personnel who had not signed contracts with the Leopoldville regime. This includes about 300 Belgians, French, British, South Africans and Italians in the Katanga forces.

Union Steps Up Pressure Against Big 3 Auto Firms

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers bargainers stepped up pressure on the auto industry's Big Three today for contract settlements matching or bettering the union's history-making agreement with American Motors Corp.

Negotiators returned to the bargaining table at Ford, Chrysler and General Motors faced with a contract expiration less than four days away.

It was the first negotiating session at Ford and GM since the union and American Motors signed a profit-sharing agreement Saturday.

The UAW announced its 490,000 hourly rated auto industry members have voted overwhelmingly in favor of strike action to support bargaining demands.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president, said today Ford is not preparing any new offers to the UAW and said the union thus far has made no definite counterproposals to Ford's offer of last week. "I don't think I ought to comment," he said when asked about the UAW-American Motors settlement. He added his feelings have not changed on profit sharing, which he opposes and which is a basic part of the AMC agreement.

Unless something gives by Thursday midnight, when current three-year contracts run out, UAW President Walter P. Reuther says there will be a strike against one of the Big Three. Workers have rolled up overwhelming majorities to back up demands with walkouts, if necessary.

Reuther said there still is time for agreement "if there is good will on both sides." He pointed out the AMC-UAW pact was put together between Tuesday and Saturday.

Under the new three-year American Motors agreement production workers get 10 per cent of profits, after the first 10 per cent is set aside for stockholders. Workers also will get a five per cent bonus in AMC stock, half pay for any hours fewer than 40 worked in a short workweek, high supplemental unemployment benefits and increased pensions. Additionally, a seven-cent annual productivity pay increase is carried forward. So is the cost-of-living formula that carries wages up or down with the government's consumer price index.

Military Chiefs

traditionally anti-Communist military.

Denys, 69, with 48 years in active army service, has emerged as the key man in the maneuvering over whether Goulart should be sworn in as chief of state.

"The army, navy and air force are united in watching over the nation's general tranquility," Denys said in one of his few statements since the crisis broke Friday.

Ranieri Mazzilli, the moderate speaker of the Chamber of Deputies who is serving as acting president, declared in the capital of Brasilia Sunday night the crisis is being overcome and predicted "within a brief period all will be normal."

Mazzilli said all was calm in South America's sprawling giant of 67 million people. But the government imposed censorship on newspapers and outgoing dispatches and seized two radio stations for broadcasts favorable to Goulart.

Former War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott was arrested after making public an appeal to Denys on behalf of Goulart. Lott had told newsmen he had been informed Denys intended to arrest the vice president the minute he landed in Brazil. Lott said he "tried to persuade him from performing such a violent act, but I was unsuccessful."

Lott was beaten for the presidency by Quadros in the 1960 election. Goulart was his running mate and won under the Brazilian voting system that allows ticket splitting.

Stock Mart Prices Show New Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, aircrafts and some chemicals paced a market advance early this afternoon in moderate trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 254.40 with industrials up 2.80, rails up .30 and utilities off .10. Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losers.

American Motors was fairly steady in active trading following news that it had agreed "in principle" over the weekend on a new labor contract. Ford and Chrysler sagged and General Motors kept a fractional gain as their chances of avoiding a strike remained in doubt.

Jones & Laughlin, up about 2, made the best showing among the major steel producers. U.S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet were up about a point each. Lukens advanced more than a point. Bethlehem and Republic added substantial fractions.

American Telephone traded off about a point and Jersey Standard erased a fractional gain and traded about unchanged.

Eastman Kodak rose more than a point. Lorillard, Air Reduction and Republic Aviation were up about a point each.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.31 at 719.01. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Two Pickaway County youths, riding double on a bicycle received minor injuries at 1:50 p. m. yesterday when they ran into an auto that went off the road in an attempt to avoid hitting them about a mile south of Darbyville on the Circleville - London Northern Road.

Sheriff Walton W. Spangler said Marian S. and Robert J. Horn received minor abrasions in the accident. They refused treatment.

Jeffrey Lee Peters, 20, Route 1, Williamsport, driver of the auto, was not injured as his car went off the road and knocked down a utility pole.

Peters gave the following account of the accident: "I noticed the two children on a bicycle carrying two bags of groceries and I pulled into the left lane of traffic and warned them by blowing the horn to avoid an accident."

The bicycle became unbalanced and instead of making a right turn, it headed for the auto. Peters said he continued turning left and went off the road into a telephone pole as the youths struck the side of his car.

items which were displayed. Each table was lighted with a kerosene lamp as its centerpiece.

The Leaguers, serving as waiters and waitresses, also carried out the theme by wearing old-fashioned suits and dresses.

Miss Ginger Young served as chairman of the decorations committee which included Nancy Pickel, Locke MacKenzie, Nancy Brobst, Christine Zehner, Norma Ruth Troutman and Cheryl Hulse.

SERVING as chairman of the food committee was Mona Dawson. She was assisted by Pam Parker and Peter Willis. All youth in both Leagues were on the service committee which assisted in preparing the patio, serving and cleanup.

Music was furnished by the many antique phonographs owned by Carl Zehner Jr. Typical of the song played in keeping with the theme were, "Ain't We Got Fun", "Bill Bailey," "On The Sunny Side of the Street," "Toot Toot Tootie," and "S' Wonderful."

Harsha Is Named To Subcommittee

Congressman William H. Harsha, Jr., (R) 6th District, Ohio has been chosen to serve on a select subcommittee on real property acquisitions.

The Committee on Public Works voted to set up this select subcommittee to conduct a study of land acquisition in federal and federally-assisted programs, through condemnation proceedings or otherwise. The special subcommittee will conduct hearings, receive testimony and develop legislative proposals, if appropriate, and report its findings and recommendations to the full committee for transmittal to the Congress.

The Committee believes there is a real need for a comprehensive and impartial study of the acquisition of property by the Government. The study is to be a balanced and objective examination for the purpose of ascertaining whether existing practices are unfair either to the property owner because of inadequate payments or to the general taxpayer because of over-payments.

Benhase of CHS Is Kiwanis Speaker

Carl K. Benhase, head football coach at Circleville High School, will be guest speaker at tonight's weekly Kiwanis Club meeting at the Mecca Restaurant.

Coach Benhase will discuss the coming season and comment on some of the teams the CHS Tigers will face this year. The local grid force opens September 8 when Paint Valley comes here.

The coach will also give a run-down on playing material available to the 1962 Circleville squad.

Forestry Group Plans Series of Conferences

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Forestry Association will sponsor a series of conferences to help Ohioans solve their areas' water problems. The first, the Cuyahoga Water Conference, will be held in Cleveland Sept. 11. Similar conferences are planned in the Maumee, Scioto, Miami, Mahoning, Mill Creek and Sandusky watersheds and in others where there is an indication of interest, the association said.

Little Bit at a Time

The Russians, fearing the West could be provoked into fighting over Berlin, intend no drastic moves that might bring on war. Instead, they plan to take a little bit at a time—first one right, then one concession, and so on — like slicing salami.

The Soviets reason the West will not fight over the border sealing, even though it is a flagrant violation of a Soviet-Western agreement. They reason that the West will not fight to prevent further small steps, such as giving East Germany control of Allied routes to Berlin, a Soviet-East German peace treaty, and so on.

The present action — the Berlin cordon

—was intended to end the acute embarrassment of the East German exodus — a flight which gave the lie to every communist claim of a superior system. The blockade has just about ended the exodus, but it has only compounded the embarrassment, by showing that brute force is the only way to hold East Germany's subjects.

Khrushchev calls Berlin "a bone in the throat," but instead of coughing it out, he is attempting to swallow it. If the bottled-up population boils closer to revolt, he may wish he had taken the other course.

Insect Armament Needed

It has long been a dour theory that man may eventually lose his battle against insects. They have a way of developing resistance, spawning progeny that thumb their noses at the most potent insecticides.

This theory has currency again following a U. S. government study of termites. Ten years ago they did $100 million annual damage to wood structures. That has increased to $250 million a year. Originally doing most of their damage in warm climate, they are working their way northward by subterranean routes.

Termites have been on earth an estimated 250 million years. Whether they or cockroaches had priority in the insect kingdom is a moot question. They have a "civilization" akin to that of the bee and the ant, but the termites are much more aggressive so far as man's interests are concerned. In addition to wood, they eat into clothing, books, bones, rubber insulation and lime mortar.

If this stem of the insect tree is growing so fast, perhaps man had better begin to arm in earnest for the possibility of all-out war on yet another front.

Lady Plus Umbrella Equals Trouble

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—There are some problems in life a man just can't do much about. He simply must put up with them.

High on the list is how to cope with women carrying umbrellas on rainy days.

A pretty woman peering around the rim of a summer parasol in a rose garden is one of the loveliest sights on earth.

Hand that same gal a bumber-shoot on a rainy day in town, however, and she becomes a rampant traffic menace to male life, limb and property down any street she ambles.

You can chart her progress by the stricken cries of men passers-by humbly pleading:

"Please, ma'am, may I have my eyeball back?"

To each of them the lady sternly replies:

"Well, what's it doing on my umbrella in the first place?"

And she pauses to inspect her umbrella to be sure it is undamaged. That's an odd thing about women on rainy days. When they bump into a man and impale him on their umbrella, they automatically assume he is a masher trying to strike up an acquaintance with them the hard way.

They don't worry about his wounds. They feel he got what he deserves. All they fret about is whether the umbrella is all right. No woman—at last none I have ever seen—ever feels it necessary to apologize for stabbing a hole in a man's forehead with her umbrella. Her reasoning:

1. "What if I was on the wrong side of the sidewalk? He should have seen me coming."

2. "What do I care if he doesn't have better sense than to ram his silly face into my umbrella? After all, he isn't my husband."

3. "Anyway, what difference does it make? He's only a man, and one more hole in his head won't hurt his looks much."

After more than 40 years of studying the tactics of women umbrellas carriers on rainy days, I find they can be grouped into several distinct classes:

The kind that won't close their umbrellas until after they board a crowded bus.

The kind that sit next to you on the bus and rest the tip of their wet umbrella on your foot so that the water drips off and fills your shoe.

The kind that insists on opening their umbrella again before getting off the bus, thus giving everybody within a 15-foot range a free cold shower.

The kind of woman who, if she fails to gore a passing man, hurries around the block so she can have a second try at him.

One of the odd things about women who carry umbrellas on rainy days is their feminine chivalry. It is noblesse oblige with them never to wing children or another woman. Only men get the point.

Twenty women with their umbrellas wide open could crowd into a telephone booth and emerge unscathed and unscratched.

But let one lone solitary man come warily down the avenue and eight out of ten women with umbrellas will manage to jab him in the face, neck, ears or ribs—even if he gets down on his hands and knees and tries desperately to scuttle by on all fours.

It is his doom. It is his destiny. It's life.

There is only one way for a fellow to escape women carrying umbrellas on rainy days.

Stay home, and don't answer the doorbell. If you do, you're bound to find a strange woman standing there holding a wet umbrella.

"Excuse me," she'll say, "I guess this is the wrong apartment."

As she turns to go, her umbrella will bang against you, and you'll reel back blindly with a brand new hole in your forehead.

You can't win.

Canada Travels Senseless Path

By George Sokolsky

The Canadian airlift to Cuba makes no sense. The business is not large enough to justify the inevitable loss of American friendship. To most Americans, it looks like spite and spite is cheap, no matter why it is done or by whom.

The Cubans are, of course, taking every advantage of the Canadians because they assume that the Canadians are greedy and are willing to make any sacrifice to get business. The best example is the use of Cuban-hired Canadian planes rather than shipping on Canadian freight planes.

I quote an instance from The Financial Post of Toronto:

"One airline — World-Wide Airways Inc. of Montreal — hold an Air Transport Board license to airlift freight from Canada to Cuba. 'Company complains it's not getting any business, and a DC-4 sits idle at Montreal airport.'

"Another airline — International Airfreighters Ltd. of Edmonton — bought a North Star plane from Trans-Canada Air Lines in May, assembled Canadian airmen, and 'dry leased' the plane and crew to Cubana (the Cuban airline)."

"This company has been moving practically all of the Canadian airmen to and from Cuba, and the owners say they are making money."

What the Canadians expected of the Cubans is hard to say. Cuba is a Communist State and like all Communists, assumes that the capitalists will do anything to get income; that capitalists have no sense of honor or patriotism and that therefore all that is necessary is to hold a carrot in front of a capitalist and he rushes forward even into a cesspool. The Communists assume that the capitalists will kill each other off economically and that will result in a bloodless victory for World Marxism.

The Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada has urged the Canadian government "act, immediately, to withdraw permission for further Cuban flights until such time as the Cuban government agrees to live up to a firm understanding."

The Canadians thought that they had a 50-50 deal with the Cubans but they now discover that they have been done in. There are always selfish businessmen who adopt the attitude that a sale is a sale and it does not matter to whom or what for. They are like some American companies who situate branches in European countries so that they can sell to Soviet Russia, in absolute betrayal of their own country. On Sunday, 1,500 American boys risked their lives by riding into West Berlin along a 110-mile lane of peril; they might have been shot down by steel manufactured by American-owned plants situated in European countries. This nobody seems to think about these days when the competition for the dollar in all markets is becoming so serious.

The Cubans, being Marxists, figure on that attitude on the part of Canadian sellers of chicks and pigs and other foodstuffs which are flown from Canada to Cuba. Sell anything to any buyer is a good rule unless the buyer turns around to kill the customer. This has been happening with astonishing regularity during the past 40 years. Americans may have forgotten that when this country was short of steel and iron scrap, the Sixth Avenue railroad scrap, an enormous amount, was sold to Japan which shortly thereafter went to war against us.

No American can develop much sympathy for any Canadian who loses by his trading with Cuba. The Canadians went into the Cuban market with the intention of capturing an American market even if it did so meant to hurt the United States; Canada cannot hurt the United States much; it can hurt Canada more in the long run. Suffering from false pride and nationalism, there are those in Canada who believe that it does not matter that they damage United States-Canadian relations; that the United States will take anything that comes along. The truth is that the American people are weary of being abused by countries which depend upon American capital for their development and the American market for their trade.

The Cuban problem has become for us also a Canadian problem. Canada is so absorbed by the absurd notion that a small nation can compete successfully with an enormous nation, such as the United States, that the United States can be sacrificed for the tenuous possibilities of trade with Cuba and Red China. The Canadians can find themselves out on a limb.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AUTHORS OF BOOKS intended to make readers laugh spend more time on dedications than do their more serious confreres. Here's the dedication Carl Winston came up with for his titillating "How to Turn a Million Into a Shoestring": "I should be remiss, indeed, if I failed to acknowledge my indebtedness to the People's Bank of Bridgeport, the Connecticut Light and Power Co., the New England Telephone Co., Sears Roebuck, Casey Fuel, the West Redding Market, the Internal Revenue Department, and another creditor whose name is Morris H. Legion. The total is $17,886.05. Hi, Fellows!"

Two "greats" of the Hollywood scene, Samuel Goldwyn and Otto Preminger—equally irascible when crossed—got into a hassle over the filming of "Porgy and Bess." Preminger quit as director halfway through the picture—which went on to be a hit, anyhow.

Preminger, however, refuses to admit that he was feuding with Mr. G. "How can I be feuding with him," he inquires testily, "when I'm not speaking to him?"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
What's the best treatment for varicose veins — those blue corkscrews the bulge beneath the skin when pressure stretches thin vein walls?

Clogged veins, long hours of standing, pregnancy and extra weight all skyrocket this pressure. So do tiny arteries which often pour high-pressure blood directly into veins.

Fight this pressure! Bandage your legs before you get up. A four-inch elastic bandage compresses varicose whirlpools and speeds circulation below the knee. Use a second bandage to support varicose veins on the thigh.

If elastic bandages seem unsightly, wear elastic stockings or rubber-coated nylons. They help. But like veins, stockings stretch and lose their oomph.

At home, lie down for ten minutes every few hours so blood can drain "up" from the legs. At work, the executive type can lean back and prop his feet on the desk.

Even workmen who can't lie down on the job can still do varicose vein exercises.

Lift yourself high on your toes, hold, and then come down. Repeat ten times every hour or so.

Sitting Bulls can flap their feet up and down vigorously like Spanish flamenco dancers.

If your work demands continuous standing, perhaps your boss can rotate you to a sitting job. A headquarters desk eases varicose veins for policemen who have spent years pounding a beat. And any varicose floor walker will smile happily if seated behind the complaint counter.

Injectons cure smaller varicose veins by making clots, while snug bandages prevent bulging. Larger blue corkscrews have to be disconnected from deep leg veins by a surgeon.

Narrow skin veins will still stretch into new varicose trouble when deep clots channel extra blood through them. You can't expect thin boys to do a man's job.

Reduce and you'll reduce your varicose problem! Cutting calories may help more than cutting veins.

Just remember — while those extra snacks make you happy, they make your legs blue!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

They'll Do It Every Time

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—According to the official figures, the cost of living has moved to a new high—and probably will keep rising.

According to many harassed heads of families, making both ends meet keeps getting harder.

But some business and financial spokesmen hold that the cost of living hasn't risen as much as the Labor Department's consumer price index indicates. They say the quality of many items has increased as well as the price and the index isn't adjusted to show that.

Many of you may retort that neither is it adjusted to take into account the numerous cases where quality of consumer items isn't what it used to be.

Another argument is that the rising cost of living has been off from wage scales tied directly to the index itself. In other words, both prices and wages have risen, and only the marketplace value of the dollar has dropped.

In judging the worth of the index, others point out that in America individualists are still liberally sprinkled among the conformists. And the increasingly sophisticated housewife or head of the family often can switch from one item to another when prices seem out of line.

So, while the official index goes up seasonally or chronically, many families may simply have changed the items on the dinner table for the time being, or put off buying something or other, or otherwise changed their spending habits. The individual family budget, in other words, may be far different from the average which the consumer price index is supposed to mirror.

All these arguments would tend to minimize the threat of further inflation which some see in the slowly but steadily rising cost of living index.

And the official Washington view just now is that there is little danger because of abundant supplies of most things due to unused industrial capacity, or a lack of any rush to buy by either consumers or businessmen.

Auto labor negotiations, talk of a price rise in steel this fall, or more and bigger increase in government spending if the Berlin crisis worsens—all these may affect the stock market, but official thinking is as yet.

But at the family level, rising costs are a very present problem. Seasonal changes in the cost of food are more or less accepted. But always there is that periodic purchase or fee. The replacement always seems to cost more than the original bought a while back. Or you may be surprised, in spite of all the warnings you had, how much more it will cost you to send your child to college this fall than it cost your parents when you went.

And each year there is something new that your family wants badly if it is to be as happy as the others in the neighborhood or as the families of your fellows at the office or the factory. These wants may be for goods, or, increasingly, they may be for services.

This is known as the rising standard of living and is one of the glories of a prosperous American economy.

But it is also known as the rising cost of living. Prices may go up, but also do the qualities we demand of the goods, services or conveniences we insist on when we can pay for them.

Little Bit at a Time

The Russians, fearing the West could be provoked into fighting over Berlin, intend no drastic moves that might bring on war. Instead, they plan to take a little bit at a time—first one right, then one concession, and so on — like slicing salami.

The Soviets reason the West will not fight over the border sealing, even though it is a flagrant violation of a Soviet-Western agreement. They reason that the West will not fight to prevent further small steps, such as giving East Germany control of Allied routes to Berlin, a Soviet-East German peace treaty, and so on.

The present action — the Berlin cordon

—was intended to end the acute embarrassment of the East German exodus — a flight which gave the lie to every communist claim of a superior system. The blockade has just about ended the exodus, but it has only compounded the embarrassment, by showing that brute force is the only way to hold East Germany's subjects.

Khrushchev calls Berlin "a bone in the throat," but instead of coughing it out, he is attempting to swallow it. If the bottled-up population boils closer to revolt, he may wish he had taken the other course.

Insect Armament Needed

It has long been a dour theory that man may eventually lose his battle against insects. They have a way of developing resistance, spawning progeny that thumb their noses at the most potent insecticides.

This theory has currency again following a U. S. government study of termites. Ten years ago they did $100 million annual damage to wood structures. That has increased to $250 million a year. Originally doing most of their damage in warm climate, they are working their way northward by subterranean routes.

Termites have been on earth an estimated 250 million years. Whether they or cockroaches had priority in the insect kingdom is a moot question. They have a "civilization" akin to that of the bee and the ant, but the termites are much more aggressive so far as man's interests are concerned. In addition to wood, they eat into clothing, books, bones, rubber insulation and lime mortar.

If this stem of the insect tree is growing so fast, perhaps man had better begin to arm in earnest for the possibility of all-out war on yet another front.

Lady Plus Umbrella Equals Trouble

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—There are some problems in life a man just can't do much about. He simply must put up with them.

High on the list is how to cope with women carrying umbrellas on rainy days.

A pretty woman peering around the rim of a summer parasol in a rose garden is one of the loveliest sights on earth.

Hand that same gal a bumper-shoot on a rainy day in town, however, and she becomes a rampant traffic menace to male life, limb and property down any street she ambles.

You can chart her progress by the stricken cries of men passers-by humbly pleading:

"Please, ma'am, may I have my eyeball back?"

To each of them the lady sternly replies:

"Well, what's it doing on my umbrella in the first place?"

And she pauses to inspect her umbrella to be sure it is undamaged. That's an odd thing about women on rainy days. When they bump into a man and impale him on their umbrella, they automatically assume he is a masher trying to strike up an acquaintance with them the hard way.

They don't worry about his wounds. They feel he got what he deserves. All they fret about is whether the umbrella is all right.

No woman—at last none I have ever seen—ever feels it necessary to apologize for stabbing a hole in a man's forehead with her umbrella. Her reasoning:

1. "What if I was on the wrong side of the sidewalk? He should have seen me coming."

2. "What do I care if he doesn't have better sense than to ram his silly face into my umbrella? After all, he isn't my husband."

3. "Anyway, what difference does it make? He's only a man, and one more hole in his head won't hurt his looks much."

After more than 40 years of studying the tactics of women umbrellas carriers on rainy days, I find they can be grouped into several distinct classes:

The kind that won't close their umbrellas until after they board a crowded bus.

The kind that sit next to you on the bus and rest the tip of their wet umbrella on your foot so that the water drips off and fills your shoe.

The kind that insists on opening their umbrella again before getting off the bus, thus giving everybody within a 15-foot range a free cold shower.

The kind of woman who, if she fails to gore a passing man, hurries around the block so she can have a second try at him.

One of the odd things about women who carry umbrellas on rainy days is their feminine chivalry. It is noblesse oblige with them never to wing children or another woman. Only men get the point.

Twenty women with their umbrellas wide open could crowd into a telephone booth and emerge unscathed and unscratched.

But let one lone solitary man come warily down the avenue and eight out of ten women with umbrellas will manage to jab him in the face, neck, ears or ribs—even if he gets down on his hands and knees and tries desperately to scuttle by on all fours.

It is his doom. It is his destiny. It is life.

There is only one way for a fellow to escape women carrying umbrellas on rainy days.

Stay home, and don't answer the doorbell. If you do, you're bound to find a strange woman standing there holding a wet umbrella.

"Excuse me," she'll say, "I guess this is the wrong apartment."

As she turns to go, her umbrella will bang against you, and you'll reel back blindly with a brand new hole in your forehead.

You can't win.

Canada Travels Senseless Path

By George Sokolsky

The Canadian airlift to Cuba makes no sense. The business is not large enough to justify the inevitable loss of American friendship. To most Americans, it looks like spite and spite is cheap, no matter why it is done or by whom.

The Cubans are, of course, taking every advantage of the Canadians because they assume that the Canadians are greedy and are willing to make any sacrifice to get business. The best example is the use of Cuban-hired Canadian planes rather than shipping on Canadian freight planes.

I quote an instance from The Financial Post of Toronto:

"One airline — World-Wide Airways Inc. of Montreal — hold an Air Transport Board license to airlift freight from Canada to Cuba.

"Company complains it's not getting any business, and a DC-4 sits idle at Montreal airport.

"Another airline — International Airfreighters Ltd. of Edmonton — bought a North Star plane from Trans-Canada Air Lines in May, assembled Canadian airmen, and 'dry leased' the plane and crew to Cubana (the Cuban airline).

"This company has been moving practically all of the Canadian aircraft to and from Cuba, and the owners say they are making money."

What the Canadians expected of the Cubans is hard to say. Cuba is a Communist State and like all Communists, assumes that the capitalists will do anything to get income; that capitalists have no sense of honor or patriotism and that therefore all that is necessary is to hold a carrot in front of a capitalist and he rushes forward even into a cesspool. The Communists assume that the capitalists will kill each other off economically and that will result in a bloodless victory for World Marxism.

The Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada has urged the Canadian government "act, immediately, to withdraw permission for further Cuban flights until such time as the Cuban government agrees to live up to a firm understanding."

The Canadians thought that they had a 50-50 deal with the Cubans but they now discover that they have been done in. There are always selfish businessmen who adopt the attitude that a sale is a sale and it does not matter to whom or what for. They are like some American companies who situate branches in European countries so that they can sell to Soviet Russia, in absolute betrayal of their own country. On Sunday, 1,500 American boys risked their lives by riding into West Berlin along a 110-mile lane of peril; they might have been shot down by steel manufactured by American-owned plants situated in European countries. This nobody seems to think about these days when the competition for the dollar in all markets is becoming so serious.

The Cubans, being Marxists, figure on that attitude on the part of Canadian sellers of chicks and pigs and other foodstuffs which are flown from Canada to Cuba. Sell anything to any buyer is a good rule unless the buyer turns around to kill the customer. This has been happening with astonishing regularity during the past 40 years. Americans may have forgotten that when this country was short of steel and iron scrap, the Sixth Avenue railroad scrap, an enormous amount, was sold to Japan which shortly thereafter went to war against us.

No American can develop much sympathy for any Canadian who loses by his trading with Cuba. The Canadians went into the Cuban market with the intention of capturing an American market even if it did so meant to hurt the United States; Canada cannot hurt the United States much; it can hurt Canada more in the long run. Suffering from false pride and nationalism, there are those in Canada who believe that it does not matter that they damage United States-Canadian relations; that the United States will take anything that comes along. The truth is that the American people are weary of being abused by countries which depend upon American capital for their development and the American market for their trade.

The Cuban problem has become for us also a Canadian problem. Canada is so absorbed by the absurd notion that a small nation can compete successfully with an enormous nation, such as the United States is, that the United States can be sacrificed for the tenuous possibilities of trade with Cuba and Red China. The Canadians can find themselves out on a limb.

The Southern Alps of New Zealand, source of that nation's treasure of "white gold."

New Zealand Now Tapping Her Source of White Gold

By ARTHUR SCHOLLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WELLINGTON, New Zealand— "White gold" from New Zealand's Southern Alps will be used to establish the largest aluminum plant in the Southern Hemisphere.

New Zealand's snowlands are larger than those of Switzerland, and the perpetual water power from the melting glaciers will be used to produce electricity for the new industry.

Consolidated Zinc Pty. Ltd., an international organization, will build a huge aluminum smelter at the bottom end of the South Island.

Once the program is in full production, it will mean that New Zealand will earn additional overseas credits of up to $100 million a year. The plant will eventually become the Dominion's biggest industrial concern.

For the last 12 months geologists have climbed the rugged, 12,000-foot high peaks of the Southern Alps where Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Everest, earned his first mountaineering laurels.

The scientists located the site for a power station 1,000 feet underground, and decided to tunnel through the mountains to secure their water supplies.

The company will produce 100,000 kilowatts of power from the waters of the twin lakes, Manapouri and Te Anau. For a start power will come from Benmore, a power scheme farther north on the Waitaki River, which is nearing completion.

The company's plan envisages

that a first stage development of 285,000 kilowatts will be installed by 1972. Within 10 years the company will have pushed its output from 40,000 tons a year to 140,000 tons.

Raw material will come from the rich deposits of bauxite at Weipa in North Queensland.

New Zealand, a country with a population of 2½ million, has made enormous industrial progress since the end of World War II.

Although the world's largest exporter of primary products, New Zealand is embarking on a full scale industrialization program to support a growing population and to pay for imports of raw materials and consumer goods.

A labor force of 2,500 will be directly employed. With associated services, trade and industry this could mean the development in population for Southland Province of 25,000.

Such a large scale industry will cost a huge sum to establish and the company envisages spending $350 million to construct its power plant, huge smelter and associated facilities.

Ever since World War II electric power has been in short supply in New Zealand. Use of the natural "white gold" in the Southland Province will encourage the establishment of further industries.

At present Australia exports all New Zealand's steel supplies, but because of the unfulfilled demand in Australia, this supply is uncertain. More expensive steel has been imported from Japan and from Europe.

New Zealand has iron sand deposits and plenty of coal reserves to give the undertaking an economic foundation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In this most savage of centuries, and the most unpredictable, the resignation of Brazil's President Janio Quadros may be only a minor episode or a turning point in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

One thing is sure: Brazil, with 67 million people, is the biggest of all Latin American countries and, whatever direction it takes, it will have an effect on its neighbors.

At this point no one seems sure whether Brazil will turn left — Joao Goulart, the vice president supposed to succeed Quadros is a leftist — or whether a military dictatorship of the right will take over and keep Goulart out.

For that matter, it doesn't seem too clear what direction Quadros might have taken or whether this sudden move of his is part of a plan to come back soon — how he could do it isn't clear, either — with more power than before.

Even Goulart seemed uncertain over the weekend. He had visited Communist China and was in Hong Kong when news of Quadros' resignation reached him. He started flying home but stopped in Paris.

He seemed to want to make sure what kind of reception to expect when he got home — trouble or open arms.

Brazil is a land of great wealth and enormous poverty. In the northeast Communists had stirred the peasants to revolt. When Quadros became president seven months ago he inherited tremendous problems. Brazil was in bad financial shape.

He himself was regarded as a conservative financially. But from the start he gave Brazil a sense of movement: he investigated government corruption, proposed tax reforms and economies to balance the budget, fired some unneeded government workers.

These were some of his measures and they made enemies for him. When he resigned Friday he said he had wanted Brazil for the Brazilians but that his efforts at reform had been blocked. An opposition Congress had bottlenecked him.

He called his policy neutral but got huge foreign aid from this country. Yet, he sought to restore relations with Russia, which had been broken off in 1947, and had sent representatives to Communist China.

In 1960, before taking office, he visited Cuba. He called the Castro revolution beautiful but later said he would be the first to condemn a Communist Cuba. In all this he kept the United States guessing.

There wasn't and isn't any doubt that if Brazil went Communist it would be one of the great disasters for this country which has Fidel Castro for a next door neighbor and which doesn't know what direction British Guiana will take.

This broad puzzlement about what's going to happen next in Latin America is typical of this 20th century when the West and communism are in such deadly struggle that intrigue spreads across the face of the earth.

And even if Brazil turns right it might be a spur to its backward neighbors to turn left in a hurry to keep the same thing from happening to them.

Disbarred Harvey Crow Gets Chance for New Day in Court

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Former attorney J. Harvey Crow of Urbana keeps popping in and out of court despite disbarments.

The popping will apply to jail if he persists in practicing law, judges have warned.

But Crow will have another day in court here Sept. 7 in his appeal from a new contempt conviction. Statute permits a defendant to argue his own case and that's what Crow plans to do.

Crow wrote his notice of appeal to the 3rd District Appellate Court in longhand at the start of a 10-day sentence in Union County jail at Marysville for meddling in a civil suit there.

Appeal brought a stay of sentence and got him out after a night behind bars last April. He faces return to jail if he loses his appeal.

The Ohio Supreme Court, which disbarred Crow and lifted his attorney's license in 1959, threatened to jail him for six months if he practiced law again. High court action to make that threat good is under consideration, attorneys said.

Crow became an attorney in 1927. He was disbarred in 1935 by Stark County Common Pleas Court and reinstated in 1950. Champaign County Common Pleas Court disbarred him again in 1956 for unethical acts in divorce and property settlement cases. The state supreme court affirmed in 1957.

The following year, the state bar association accused Crow of engaging in legal matters in at least eight counties and asked the supreme court to order a halt. The counties were listed as Franklin, Fayette, Champaign, Madison, Logan, Allen, Hamilton and Montgomery.

The high court convicted Crow of contempt in 1959, ordered surrender of his license and warned that he faced jail. Crow then mailed his license to the court.

While those proceedings were in progress, Crow was barred from practice in the U. S. Supreme Court. Subsequently he was barred from practice in U.S. District court.

Gilbert & Sullivan

NEW YORK (AP)—A mixture of Gilbert & Sullivan with vintage operettas by other authors is being planned for a full season of repertory by Dorothy Raedler, head of the American Savoyards group.

A 20-week tour would follow New York production.

Miss Raedler explains that the old-time works "have a charm that is often lacking in modern musicals. When I hear the pop songs of today and realize that this is the stuff on which our teenagers feed, I become more and more convinced that those great Romberg, Herbert and Friml scores ought to be required listening."

Two Phillips Academies are located in Andover, Mass., and Exeter, N.H. They are known as Phillips Andover and Phillips Exeter.

Rail Names To Remain

Plans to retain both the "Wabash" and "Nickel Plate" names in the proposed consolidation of these railroads into the Norfolk and Western Railway Company were announced jointly today by Stuart T. Saunders, president of the Norfolk and Western, Felix S. Hales, president of the Nickel Plate Road, and Herman H. Pevler, president of the Wabash Railroad System.

Noting published reports that the two midwest rail lines might lose their identity, the rail presidents said that after merger the properties would be known as the Nickel Plate and Wabash Regions of the new N&W.

"For over 80 years 'Nickel Plate' has been both the popular and official name for a great railroad — the New York, Chicago and St. Louis," Saunders said. "For even longer, the name 'Wabash' has stood for another fine, dependable line. We do not intend to let these respected symbols of reliable railroading disappear from the scene."

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures overnight were in the 60s, with fair to partly cloudy skies. Conditions were dry, but night-time cooling produced patchy ground fog over many areas, with heavier fog in the southeastern counties near and along the Ohio River.

Mostly fair and warm weather is forecast for today and Tuesday. However, a weak low in southern Wisconsin may produce a few thundershowers over portions of northern Ohio as it travels eastward.

At sunrise, Columbus and Cleveland had temperatures of 63, Cincinnati 68, and Bellaire 64.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST
NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN OHIO — Temperatures tonight through Sunday will average 2-4 degrees above average, with little day-to-day change. Normal high 82, normal low 59. Rainfall will average about one-half inch in scattered thundershowers mainly toward end of week.

Ohio Legion Backs Anti-Red Resolution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An anti-Communist resolution, introduced in the U.S. House by Rep John R. Pillion, R-N.Y., has been given the support of the Ohio Legion's executive committee. The resolution states that "the United States resolutely pledges all its resources to the defeat and the destruction of the Communist parties of the world," and calls upon people of free nations to "resist conquest and exploitation by the Communist power system."

A fire has been smoldering in a coal mine near Wilkes Barre, Pa., for the past 75 years. The smoking area is called "Burning Mountain."

The Southern Alps of New Zealand, source of that nation's treasure of "white gold."

New Zealand Now Tapping Her Source of White Gold

By ARTHUR SCHOLLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WELLINGTON, New Zealand—"White gold" from New Zealand's Southern Alps will be used to establish the largest aluminum plant in the Southern Hemisphere.

New Zealand's snowlands are larger than those of Switzerland, and the perpetual water power from the melting glaciers will be used to produce electricity for the new industry.

Consolidated Zinc Pty. Ltd., an international organization, will build a huge aluminum smelter at the bottom end of the South Island.

Once the program is in full production, it will mean that New Zealand will earn additional overseas credits of up to $100 million a year. The plant will eventually become the Dominion's biggest industrial concern.

For the last 12 months geologists have climbed the rugged, 12,000-foot high peaks of the Southern Alps where Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Everest, earned his first mountaineering laurels.

The scientists located the site for a power station 1,000 feet underground, and decided to tunnel through the mountains to secure their water supplies.

The company will produce 100,000 kilowatts of power from the waters of the twin lakes, Manapouri and Te Anau. For a start power will come from Benmore, a power scheme farther north on the Waitaki River, which is nearing completion.

The company's plan envisages

that a first stage development of 285,000 kilowatts will be installed by 1972. Within 10 years the company will have pushed its output from 40,000 tons a year to 140,000 tons.

Raw material will come from the rich deposits of bauxite at Weipa in North Queensland.

New Zealand, a country with a population of 2½ million, has made enormous industrial progress since the end of World War II.

Although the world's largest exporter of primary products, New Zealand is embarking on a full scale industrialization program to support a growing population and to pay for imports of raw materials and consumer goods.

A labor force of 2,500 will be directly employed. With associated services, trade and industry this could mean the development in population for Southland Province of 25,000.

Such a large scale industry will cost a huge sum to establish and the company envisages spending $350 million to construct its power plant, huge smelter and associated facilities.

Ever since World War II electric power has been in short supply in New Zealand. Use of the natural "white gold" in the Southland Province will encourage the establishment of further industries.

At present, Australia exports all New Zealand's steel supplies, but because of the unfulfilled demand in Australia, this supply is uncertain. More expensive steel has been imported from Japan and from Europe.

New Zealand has iron sand deposits and plenty of coal reserves to give the undertaking an economic foundation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In this most savage of centuries, and the most unpredictable, the resignation of Brazil's President Janio Quadros may be only a minor episode or a turning point in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

One thing is sure: Brazil, with 67 million people, is the biggest of all Latin American countries and, whatever direction it takes, it will have an effect on its neighbors.

At this point no one seems sure whether Brazil will turn left — Joao Goulart, the vice president supposed to succeed Quadros is a leftist—or whether a military dictatorship of the right will take over and keep Goulart out.

For that matter, it doesn't seem too clear what direction Quadros might have taken or whether this sudden move of his is part of a plan to come back soon — how he could do it isn't clear, either — with more power than before.

Even Goulart seemed uncertain over the weekend. He had visited Communist China and was in Hong Kong when news of Quadros' resignation reached him. He started flying home but stopped at a civil suit there.

He seemed to want to make sure what kind of reception to expect when he got home—trouble or open arms.

Brazil is a land of great wealth and enormous poverty. In the northeast Communists had stirred the peasants to revolt. When Quadros became president seven months ago he inherited tremendous problems. Brazil was in bad financial shape.

He himself was regarded as a conservative financially. But from the start he gave Brazil a sense of movement: he investigated government corruption, proposed tax reforms and economies to balance the budget, fired some unneeded government workers.

These were some of his measures and they made enemies for him. When he resigned Friday he said he had wanted Brazil for the Brazilians but that his efforts at reform had been blocked. An opposition Congress had bottlenecked him.

He called his policy neutral but got huge foreign aid from this country. Yet, he sought to restore relations with Russia, which had been broken off in 1947, and had sent representatives to Communist China.

In 1960, before taking office, he visited Cuba. He called the Castro revolution beautiful but later said he would be the first to condemn a Communist Cuba. In all this he kept the United States guessing.

There wasn't and isn't any doubt that if Brazil went Communist it would be one of the great disasters for this country which has Fidel Castro for a next door neighbor and which doesn't know what direction British Guiana will take.

This broad puzzlement about what's going to happen next in Latin America is typical of this 20th century when the West and communism are in such deadly struggle that intrigue spreads across the face of the earth.

And even if Brazil turns right it might be a spur to its backward neighbors to turn left in a hurry to keep the same thing from happening to them.

Disbarred Harvey Crow Gets Chance for New Day in Court

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Former attorney J. Harvey Crow of Urbana keeps popping in and out of court despite disbarments.

The popping will apply to jail if he persists in practicing law, judges have warned.

But Crow will have another day in court here Sept. 7 in his appeal from a new contempt conviction.

Statute permits a defendant to argue his own case and that's what Crow plans to do.

Crow wrote his notice of appeal to the 3rd District Appellate Court in longhand at the start of a 10-day sentence in Union County jail at Marysville for meddling in a civil suit there.

Appeal brought a stay of sentence and got him out after a night behind bars last April. He faces return to jail if he loses his appeal.

The Ohio Supreme Court, which disbarred Crow and lifted his attorney's license in 1959, threatened to jail him for six months if he practiced law again. High court action to make that threat good is under consideration, attorneys said.

Crow became an attorney in 1927. He was disbarred in 1935 by Stark County Common Pleas Court and reinstated in 1950. Champaign County Common Pleas Court disbarred him again in 1956 for unethical acts in divorce and property settlement cases. The state supreme court affirmed in 1957.

The following year, the state bar association accused Crow of engaging in legal matters in at least eight counties and asked the supreme court to order a halt. The counties were listed as Franklin, Fayette, Champaign, Madison, Logan, Allen, Hamilton and Montgomery.

The high court convicted Crow of contempt in 1959, ordered surrender of his license and warned that he faced jail. Crow then mailed his license to the court.

While those proceedings were in progress, Crow was barred from practice in the U. S. Supreme Court. Subsequently he was barred from practice in U.S. District court.

Methodist Church Is Setting For Mason-Cartnal Wedding

MRS. RICHARD ERNEST CARTNAL

Miss Carol Diane Mason and Dr. Richard Ernest Cartnal were united in marriage at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Paul I. Wachs performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, white gladiolas and daisy pom-poms. Reserved pews were marked with white bows and foliage. White candles in candleholders were also decorated with foliage and a white bow.

Miss Mason is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Mason, 302 Watt St.

Dr. Cartnal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl W. Cartnal, Newark. Mrs. Dudley Carpenter was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Ervin Leist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of imported swiss organdy fashioned with a scooped neckline and bracelet length sleeves. The elongated torso accented the very bouffant skirt.

The neckline and skirt were accented with point de venise lace. Her crown of roses and pearl buds held a very bouffant veil of imported silk illusion.

She carried white fungi chrysanthemums and white sweetheart roses in a cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Donald Rhoads served as matron-of-honor.

Maid-of-honor was Miss Sue Bradley and Mrs. Gary Stoll served as bridesmaid.

They wore identical gowns of taffeta in gold fashioned with a scooped neckline and short sleeves. Their matching Dior bows held circular veils.

Several Parties Held in Honor Of Miss Lindsey

Plans have been completed for the marriage of Miss Jean Lindsey of Ashville to Mr. George Allen Grillo on September 2 in Circleville.

Several parties were held for the bride-elect. Monday Miss Lindsey was the guest of honor at a barbeque supper given for her by Mrs. Robert Thompson at her home in Columbus. Guests included high school friends.

On Wednesday, friends and their mothers gathered at the home of Mrs. Robert Swayer, Columbus, for a linen shower. Miss Doris Ave, sister of Mrs. Swayer, who will be Miss Lindsey's attendant at her wedding, was hostess at the shower.

Thursday evening, Mrs. John Jameson and Mrs. James Butler entertained a group of friends with a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect. This party, also, was in Columbus, at the home of Mrs. Jameson.

A coffee hour and small gadget shower was held for neighbors and friends of Miss Lindsey by Miss Mary Jo Bowers and Miss Judy Hosler. The Saturday morning party was at the home of Miss Bowers.

Following the wedding of Miss Lindsey and Mr. Grillo, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Lindsey, will entertain the wedding party and guests at a luncheon at The Wardell Party Home, honoring the bride and groom.

WHERE'S THE HOURGLASS?—Straight, straight down goes the line of this pale blue satin evening wrap by Paris' Michel Goma. Fastened top and bottom with bow-knots, it is worn over a matching sequin-embroidered dress.

Miss Linda Miller, Mr. Willard Mc Carty Exchange Marriage Vows in Meade

MRS. WILLARD W. Mc CARTY

Miss Linda Lou Miller, daughter of Mrs. John Miller of Kingston and the late Mr. John Miller, became the bride of Mr. Willard W. Mc Carty son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Mc Carty, Sr., Chillicothe, at 3:30 p. m. Saturday.

The altar of the Salem Methodist Church, Meade, where the Rev. Joseph Henson, Clarksville, cousin of bride, performed the ceremony was banked with palms and decorated with white flowers. Also on the altar were two seven-branch candelabras. The family pews were designated with white satin bows.

A half hour of nuptial music was presented by Mr. William Russell and vocalist was Mrs. William Russell.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a gown fashioned of shadow lace, designed with a scalloped portrait neckline outlined with fragile iridescents. Long sleeves tapered to a delicate point over the hands.

The bouffant skirt was caught up in colonial fashion to reveal an inset of French tulle, sweeping around to terminate into a tiered back and graceful brush train. Her bridal veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a Queens crown of lace, pearl and iridescents.

The only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade of white daisy pom-poms and a yellow-throated white orchard in the center accented with streamers and French tulle.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Grover Whitten, was matron-of-honor.

Copen blue was the color selected for her fashioned gown of silk organza over taffeta, designed with batteau neckline and bracelet sleeves. A soft beau at the waist, accented the fashionable controlled line skirt. She wore white gloves, a gift of the bride. Her matching headband was of blue velvet with matching veil and carried a cascade bouquet of blue and white daisy pom-poms.

In identical ensembles were the bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Miller, cousin of the bride, and Miss Janet Mc Carty, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Angela Blue, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a floor length blue organza gown over taffeta and wore a cultured pearl necklace, a gift of the bride and a white corsage.

Timmy Whitten, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The best man was Mr. Robert Ortmann. Ushers were Mr. Leonard Caplinger and Mr. Grover Whitten.

Mrs. Miller chose a sheath dress of blue eyelet over taffeta styled with a side drape. Her accessories were pale blue and bone and her corsage was of pink asters.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in an emerald sapphire silk chiffon sheath with over panels. Her accessories were blue and green and her corsage was of white asters.

The Church Social Room was the setting of the reception. The five-tiered wedding cake was entwined with huckleberry and candelabras on each end of the table.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Charles Boldoser, Mrs. William Evans, Miss Joyce Haylip, Miss Edna Fraley, Mrs. David Miner was in charge of the guest book.

When the newly weds left for a trip through New York and New Jersey, the bride was wearing a beige knit two-piece dress with brown accessories. Her corsage was the white orchard detached from her bridal bouquet.

After September 4 the newly weds will be living at 11½ Woodland Avenue, Kingston.

The new Mrs. McCarty was graduated from Pickaway Township High School in 1958. She is employed at John W. Eshelman & Sons, Circleville.

Mr. Mc Carty was graduated from Chillicothe High School in 1956 and attended Otterbein College two years and is now attending Chillicothe Branch of Ohio University. He is employed at the Meade Research Laboratory, Chillicothe.

Out-of-town guests were from Columbus, Athens, Hilliards, Clarksville, and Muskegon, Mich.

The bridegroom's mother and father were host and hostess for the rehearsal dinner Friday night at Wardell's Party Home.

Use bacon drippings for frying liver. Make sure the drippings stay white by cooking the bacon over very low heat; store the bacon fat in a covered container in the refrigerator and use as needed.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

In Other Words . . .

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a Navy guy. He has been stationed in California, and will be for some time. He wants me to make a trip there to visit him. I haven't seen him in over two years. He is willing to pay for my fare both ways, but my father won't permit it. Isn't it proper for a fiancée to pay for his transportation? I am 19 and he is 21.

"CALIFORNIA OR BUST?"
DEAR CALIFORNIA: Your "Navy guy" has had enough leave in two years to have visited you. And if he can pay your way to see him, he can pay his way to see you. I'm with your father.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are at odds about my attitude toward the telephone. I say our telephone is for OUR convenience, not the convenience of others and, therefore, I will answer it WHEN and IF I feel like it. He says I should answer it every time it rings because it might be an emergency. I say if it is an emergency they will call again.

I have been up to my neck in housework when a friend has phoned to "chat." I have even gotten out of the tub, rushed to answer the phone, bumped my shin and cracked my toe, only to find that it was a wrong number. Or some dance studio is calling to inform me that I have just "won" a free lesson. I have trained my husband to call at 12:15. I will answer the phone at that time no matter what I am doing. I'd like your opinion, and the opinion of others on this subject.

MIND OF MY OWN
DEAR MIND: Although the telephone is unquestionable the number one time-saving miracle of the age, it can also be an annoying intrusion. If you are one of the few who can hear the hell toll, and care not a whit by whom it is tolled, then let it ring. It's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that a red-headed woman is much harder to get along with than a blonde. Is this true?

SHOPPING AROUND
DEAR SHOPPING: No! I know a woman who has been both, and the color of her hair didn't affect her disposition in the slightest.

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills Calif.

Local Residents Attend Reunion

Mrs. Louise Rader, Mrs. John B. Ankrom, Debbie and Joyce of Circleville were among the many relatives who attended the 53rd Annual Beougher Reunion Saturday at the Stone Shelter House at Rising Park, Lancaster.

A basket dinner was served in at the noon hour. The afternoon consisted of speeches, readings, songs and a tape recording of the 50th reunion held in 1958 and given by Mrs. Earl Beougher, Columbus attorney.

Officers were installed and plans were made to hold the next reunion at Rockford, O. Relatives attending were from Circleville, Rockford, Selma, Columbus, Lancaster, Logan, Fort Summitt, Rockbridge, Athens, Paynesville and Saint Marysville.

Simple but good: add a lot of crumbled crisply cooked bacon to cream cheese and serve as a spread for crackers or melba toast. Put this combination together just before serving.

A savory way to use that leftover cooked ham is to dice it and add it to cooked cauliflower and a cheese sauce. Nice for lunch or Sunday night supper.

Methodist Church Is Setting For Mason-Cartnal Wedding

MRS. RICHARD ERNEST CARTNAL

Miss Carol Diane Mason and Dr. Richard Ernest Cartnal were united in marriage at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Paul I. Wachs performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, white gladiolus and daisy pom-poms. Reserved pews were marked with white bows and foliage. White candles in candleholders were also decorated with foliage and a white bow.

Miss Mason is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Mason, 302 Watt St.

Dr. Cartnal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl W. Cartnal, Newark. Mrs. Dudley Carpenter was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Ervin Leist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of imported swiss organdy fashioned with a scooped neckline and bracelet length sleeves. The elongated torso accented the very bouffant skirt.

The neckline and skirt were accented with point de venise lace. Her crown of roses and pearl buds held a very bouffant veil of imported silk English illusion.

She carried white fungi chrysanthemums and white sweetheart roses in a cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Donald Rhoads served as matron-of-honor.

Maid-of-honor was Miss Sue Bradley and Mrs. Gary Stoll served as bridesmaid.

They wore identical gowns of taffeta in gold fashioned with a scooped neckline and short sleeves. Their matching Dior bows held circular veils.

Several Parties Held in Honor Of Miss Lindsey

Plans have been completed for the marriage of Miss Jean Lindsey of Ashville to Mr. George Allen Grillo on September 2 in Circleville.

Several parties were held for the bride-elect. Monday Miss Lindsey was the guest of honor at a barbeque supper given for her by Mrs. Robert Thompson at her home in Columbus. Guests included high school friends.

On Wednesday, friends and their mothers gathered at the home of Mrs. Robert Swayer, Columbus, for a linen shower. Miss Doris Axe, sister of Mrs. Swayer, who will be Miss Lindsey's attendant at her wedding, was hostess at the shower.

Thursday evening, Mrs. John Jameson and Mrs. James Butler entertained a group of friends with a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect. This party, also, was in Columbus, at the home of Mrs. Jameson.

A coffee hour and small gadget shower was held for neighbors and friends of Miss Lindsey by Miss Mary Jo Bowers and Miss Judy Hosler. The Saturday morning party was at the home of Miss Bowers.

Following the wedding of Miss Lindsey and Mr. Grillo, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Lindsey, will entertain the wedding party and guests at a luncheon at The Wardell Party Home, honoring the bride and groom.

Miss Linda Miller, Mr. Willard Mc Carty Exchange Marriage Vows in Meade

MRS. WILLARD W. Mc CARTY

Miss Linda Lou Miller, daughter of Mrs. John Miller of Kingston and the late Mr. John Miller, became the bride of Mr. Willard W. Mc Carty son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Mc Carty, Sr., Chillicothe, at 3:30 p. m. Saturday.

The altar of the Salem Methodist Church, Meade, where the Rev. Joseph Henson, Clarksville, cousin of bride, performed the ceremony was banked with palms and decorated with white flowers. Also on the altar were two seven-branch candelabras. The family pews were designated with white satin bows.

A half hour of nuptial music was presented by Mr. William Russell and vocalist was Mrs. William Russell.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a gown fashioned of shadow lace, designed with a scalloped portrait neckline outlined with fragile iridescents. Long sleeves tapered to a delicate point over the hands.

The bouffant skirt was caught up in colonial fashion to reveal an inset of French tulle, sweeping around to terminate into a tiered back and graceful brush train. Her bridal veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a Queens crown of lace, pearl and iridescents.

The only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade of white daisy pom-poms and a yellow throatied white orchard in the center accented with streamers and French tulle.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Grover Whitten, was matron-of-honor.

Dear Abby...
By Abigail VanBuren

In Other Words . . .

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a Navy guy. He has been stationed in California, and will be for some time. He wants me to make a trip there to visit him. I haven't seen him in over two years. He is willing to pay for my fare both ways, but my father won't permit it. Isn't it proper for a fiancé to pay for his girl's transportation? I am 19 and he is 21. "CALIFORNIA OR BUST"

DEAR CALIFORNIA: Your "Navy guy" has had enough leave in two years to have visited you. And if he can pay your way to see him, he can pay his way to see you. I'm with your father.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are at odds about my attitude toward the telephone. I say our telephone is for OUR convenience, not the convenience of others and, therefore, I will answer it WHEN and IF I feel like it. He says I should answer it every time it rings because it might be an emergency. I say if it is an emergency they will call again.

DEAR MIND: Although the telephone is unquestionable the number one time-saving miracle of the age, it can also be an annoying intrusion. If you are one of the few who can hear the hell toll, and care not a whit by whom it is tolled, then let it ring. It's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that a red-headed woman is much harder to get along with than a blonde. Is this true?

SHOPPING AROUND
DEAR SHOPPING: No! I know a woman who has been both, and the color of her hair didn't affect her disposition in the slightest.

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills Calif.

War, Strike, Steel Price Questions Bother Business

NEW YORK (AP) — Three big questions bothered business during the week: Will there be war over Berlin? Will there be an automobile strike? Will steel prices go up in the fall?

The international crisis grew hotter and the auto-labor contract expiration drew near. Members of Congress expressed alarm over the possibility of a steel price increase.

The stock market set all-time highs and then, somewhat jarred by developments and a little tired after a long advance, retreated sharply.

The Big Three automakers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—offered the United Auto Workers new three-year contracts. They proposed wage increases of 21 cents an hour over three years plus improvements in fringe benefits.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, called the offer "a good one, a fair one, a reasonable one."

Walter P. Reuther, UAW President, termed it "woefully inadequate" and added, "It does not remotely lay the basis for settlement of 1961 negotiations."

As the Big Three stood firm on their offer, Reuther turned his personal attention to negotiations with American Motors, whose proposal included a profit-sharing plan.

The UAW filed unfair labor practices charges against General Motors with the National Labor Relations Board, charging the company failed to bargain in good faith by refusing to make available information on prices and profits.

The labor contracts run out Aug. 31.

In Washington, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., urged President Kennedy to act to prevent a steel price increase. He was supported by other Democratic senators who warned of a possible "inflationary binge."

Steelworkers' wages will be increased an average of about 7.8 cents an hour in October under a 1960 wage contract that ended a long strike.

Gore and others said it was likely that wage hikes would be followed by a $5-a-ton steel price increase.

Urging that the President first use "moral persuasion," Gore suggested that if all else fails, steel prices could be brought under federal regulation.

Steel production during the week rose for the third straight week, reaching 1,944,000 tons, up 1.8 per cent from the previous week and the highest since late June.

The industry publication, Iron Age, said rising demand may result in a brief shortage this fall. Actual and psychological pressures of the international situation and improving domestic business combined to inspire orders.

Although the first 1962 model cars were turned out during the week, the auto industry continued to stall on steel orders pending outcome of labor negotiations.

With all five automakers building 1962 for the first time, the week's production was estimated at 56,000 passenger cars. The previous week they built 19,683, the year's low, and a year ago 51,711.

Martin Gainsborough, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, said that apart from the Berlin crisis' impact on defense spending, business conditions have clearly been improving since the early months of the year. He said industrial output and nonagricultural employment have recouped all of the losses incurred during the recession.

However, the Commerce Department reported that some forces which added speed to the recovery last spring have lessened in intensity. It mentioned inventory accumulation and car sales. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange the past week totaled 17,221,714 shares compared with 18,024,090 the previous week. Bond sales on the exchange amounted to $25,631,000 (par value) in the most recent week compared with $26,502,000 the week before.

Shuffleboard is for all ages

SHUFFLEBOARD originated as an indoor table game of the English in the 15th or 16th century. It was mildly popular in Colonial times of this country, called "shovel board," then died out.

About 1880 the sport was resurrected as a shipboard pastime, first by sailors, then for children on push liners, finally taken over by adults. It starts from one end of the court to the triangle on the opposite end. The object, to get disks into scoring boxes, or to knock opponent's disks out of those and preferably into the 10 off areas at the base of the triangle.

The game, singles or partners with shoves alternating, is 50, 75 or 100 points.

THE COURT version is enjoyed indoors on portable linoleum 2 by 12 feet or on tile floors of recreation rooms.

Inside, hardwood tables are 28-30 feet long and 20 inches wide, with a gutter on each side and each end of the board. About 5 inches from each end is a "duce line," and disks put between this line and the end of table count two points, while "hangers" over the sides or end tally three points. Game is 21 points.

Today an estimated seven million play on outdoor courts. Since World War II, also, the table game has come back into great favor but appears dying out again.

Outside, shuffleboard is played on concrete lanes 52 feet long and 6 feet wide, with a large triangle painted at each end. These triangles are 9 feet from base to apex, partitioned into six odd-shaped boxes: the tip that tallies 10 points, two boxes counting 8, two 7—and one, 10 points off.

Wooden or plastic disks, 6 inches in diameter and one inch thick, are "shoved" with aluminum cues (up to 6 feet long)

Disks for the table game are of polished brass or iron, two inches in diameter, half an inch thick, and are shoved by hand. Eight disks and four cues for outdoor play are $10 up. Metal disks only for the table game are about the same.

The National Shuffleboard Association holds summer tournaments in Traverse City, Mich., and winter championships in various cities of Florida each year.

Do you have a house heating problem?

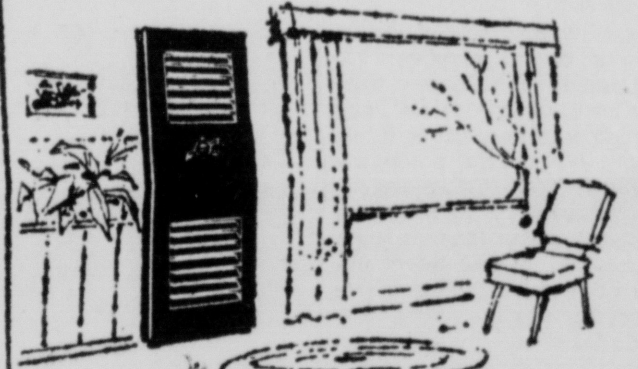

There's a GAS heating system for every need!

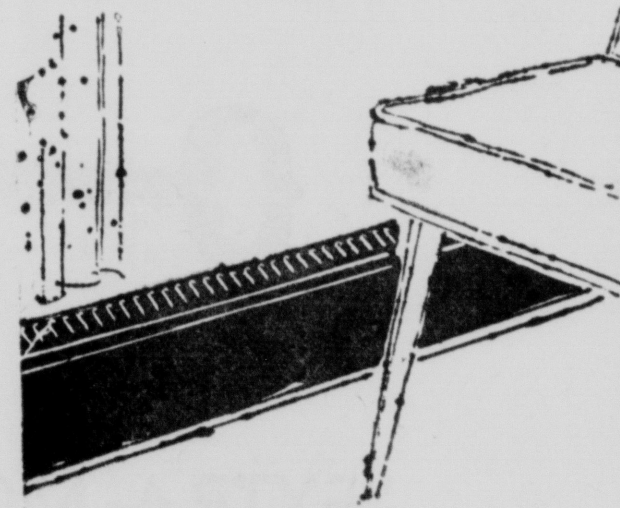

Short on floor space? Install a Gas Furnace in your attic.

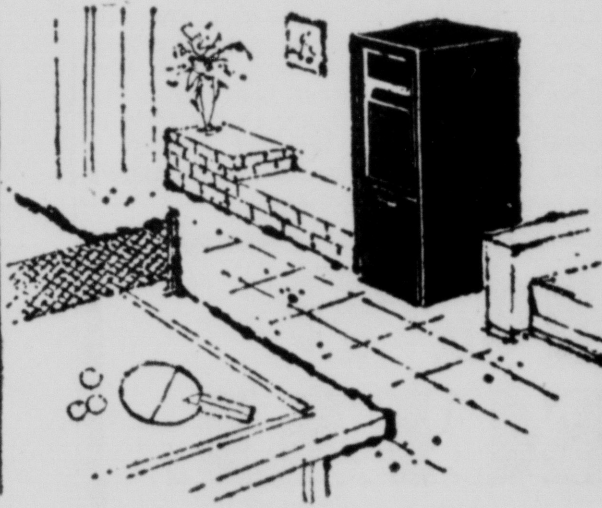

Prefer your furnace on the main floor? Hide a Gas Furnace in a closet. You can get regular or counterflow types to direct the air through ducts in the attic or below the floor.

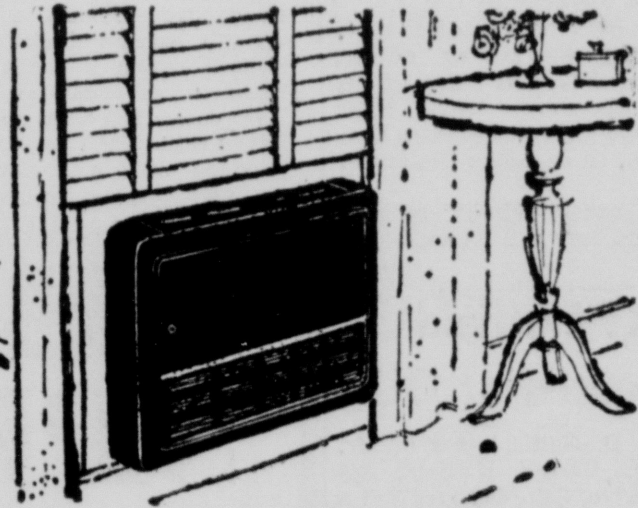

Need heat in that new addition? This Gas heater fits between the wall studs and may be vented outside without a flue.

Hot water heat may be your choice! A Gas-Fired boiler is small in size and economical to operate. The convectors are unnoticeable.

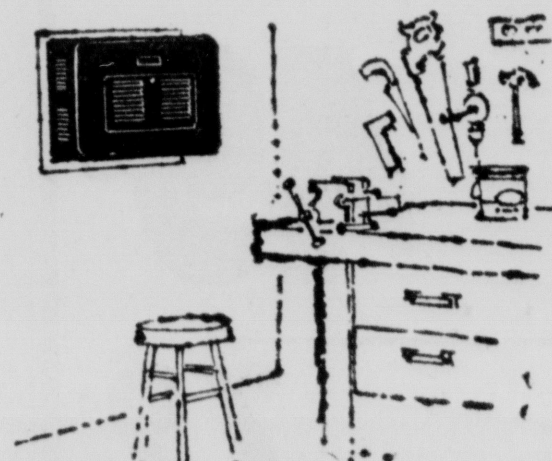

Planning a recreation room in your basement? A Gas furnace is small and attractive . . . piping can be hidden from view.

If you don't want to install central heating . . . you can have a handsome circulating heater in each room. Many types are available to fit your taste and pocketbook.

A single, convenient thermostat controls the temperature . . . throughout the entire house with Central Gas Heating. You select the exact temperature you want. A simple touch of the dial keeps you comfortable.

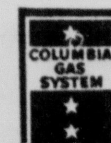

Venting is easy and inexpensive. Every home should have a chimney regardless of the type of heating used. It provides the most common type of vent. However, new developments enable you to vent some types of Gas heating by means of a simple through-the-wall device. Your heating dealer can give you the details.

'Halls of Ivy' Are Fading As Colleges Go Very Modern

A far cry from the traditional "halls of ivy" campus look is this $4 million Center for Continuing Education now under construction on the University of Chicago's "Cultural Mile."

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO — As nearly four million college students — compared with only 1.1 million just 20 years ago! — stream back to the nation's campuses, the famed "halls of ivy" look, long the motif of higher education in the land, is well on the way out.

"Old Main", that venerable pseudo-Gothic structure with the chimneys to wear, is passing as completely from the scene as did the bushy beards which once adorned stern countenances of the intellectual greats of the college world almost up to the turn of the century.

Here at the University of Chicago, for instance, they are struggling to integrate the Gothic quadrangles that were built in the 1920s along the Midway of the old Columbian Exposition site, with ultra-modern designs of the new American Bar Association Center and Law School, and the new Center for Continuing Education.

The latter structure, designed by world-famous Edward Durrell Stone of New York City, is fairly typical of jolting new trends in college buildings. Its purpose — so different from the purist academic philosophy of Robert Maynard Hutchins when he was there, yet consistent with his ideal that people should keep acquiring classical learning as long as they live — is a mark of the changing face of the campus in this era.

To be completed in less than a year, it will be a three-story, block-long addition to the vaunted "Cultural Mile" on the so-called "New Campus". Its clasp with tradition will be limited to the relief which a procession of colonnades around the entire building will give to otherwise austere lines.

Softening the clash of the new with the old is similarly the problem of such hallowed precincts of the "Ivy League" as Harvard, with Henry Shepley's striking design for the new Lamont Library; Wellesley, with its dramatic new Jewett Arts Center by Paul Randolph; Yale, with a big new building program that has dovetailed with the familiar lines of old Vanderbilt Hall and Phillips Tower, designed by famous Charles Haight, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's efforts to relate the round lines of new Kresge Auditorium with the older Boston complex.

The pending clash between new and old academic atmospheres is spotlighting again the "ageless" designs of the late Frank Lloyd Wright at Florida Southern College Lakeland, Fla.

After letting the late Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, creator of the new college, persuade him to drop his monumental prejudice against universities in general (Wright once said he would like to raise millions to tear down all the colleges and universities in America!) the sage of Taliesin East spawned what was regarded as a revolutionary campus.

Yet today Wright's "organic architecture," aiming to integrate structures with their sites, is melting beautifully into the tropical Lakeland setting. High low, sweeping lines command more attention than ever before.

However, in a new report, the Ford Foundation predicts that 10 to 12 stories is the optimum for modern college structures. Above that they create complications of adequate elevators and the bugaboo of the gasoline age — parking space.

With less height, however, the foundation doubts that there is sufficient land utilization to be economical, even in what once was the stronghold of the "freshwater college," the small college town.

The most rigorous test of new college layouts may come soon at Sarasota, Fla., where one of the relatively few entirely new institutions founded in recent years is starting from scratch on the 21-acre estate of the late king of the circus, Charles Ringling.

Congregationalists, who are old hands at starting colleges since launching both Harvard and Yale, have invited ideas from everywhere as to what an ultra-modern university should look like. The reaction of one dyed-in-the-wool Ivy Leaguer to the flood of suggestions received so far is that they resemble, appropriately enough, a circus!

Steel Output Due To Zoom

Industry Expects
No Auto Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The steel industry will produce and ship more metal in September than in any month since April 1959, Steel Magazine said today.

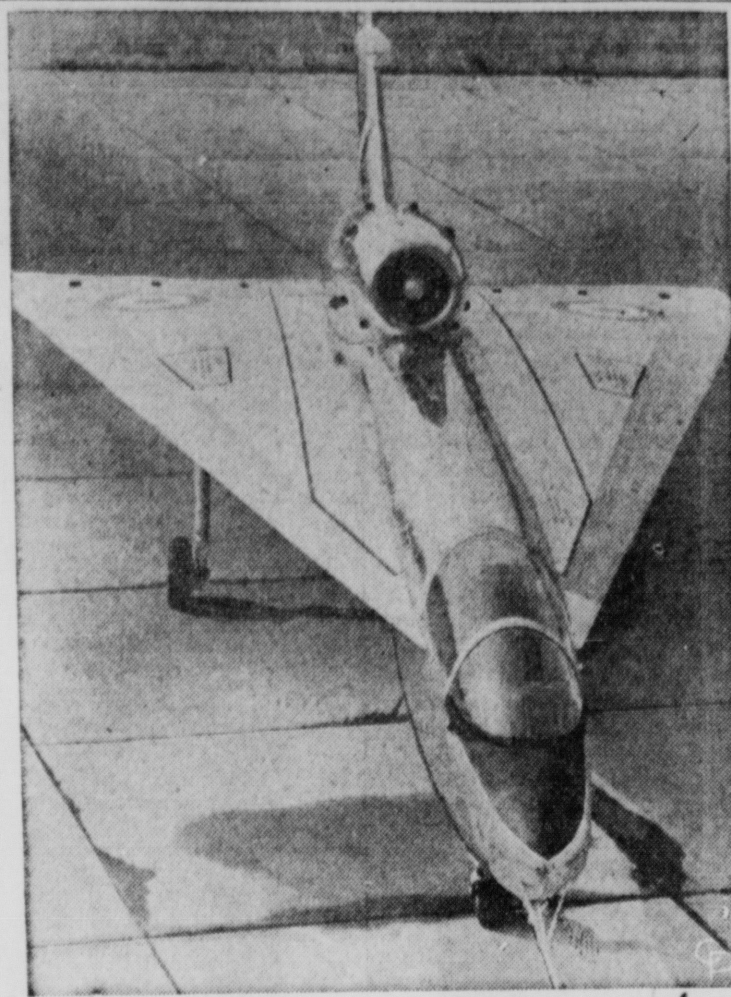

"The only thing that can upset that prediction is a strike in the automotive industry — and that's not expected," the publication said. It estimated production would pass two million tons next week, the first such big week since early in June. Last week's total was 1,980,000 tons.

"There's clear evidence of a trend toward stronger demand — and it's gaining momentum," Steel said. The result is September production should exceed nine million tons and may be as much as 10 per cent higher than the 8.6 million tons the magazine estimates the industry will purr in August.

Sales executives are encouraged the magazine noted, because the pickup is coming at a time when the biggest customers, the automakers, are hardly buying at all.

The metalworking journal made this observation on the current: "A small part of the current increase in production is attributed to accumulation of semi-finished steel stocks by mills. With increased business volume certain for the balance of the year, mills are seeking to bolster the working inventory. Not mentioned by the mills, but nevertheless important, such inventory can be laid down at a lower cost now than after Oct. 1 when the wage increase for Steelworkers goes into effect."

3 Hemingway Adaptations Trotted Out by Film Academy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Motion Picture Academy, which usually arises from its slumber but once a year to hand out Oscars, is currently running a film series, "Tribute To Ernest Hemingway."

Members are being treated to showings of three Hemingway adaptations: "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "To Have and Have Not," and "The Sun Also Rises."

The choice is not the most apt. "For Whom the Bell Tolls" (1943) is the best of the lot, a faithful, well-cast version of Hemingway's magnum (in size) opus. Gary Cooper made a perfect Robert Jordan, and Ingrid Bergman, Katina Paxinou and the other Spanish guerrillas were excellent.

"To Have and Have Not" (1944) was an amusing and successful film, but it wasn't Hemingway. It was tailored to introduce Lauren Bacall to the screen — and to Humphrey Bogart. Only the outline of the novel remained.

"The Sun Also Rises" (1957) ran into creative and censorship problems. The hero's emasculation could not be treated as frankly as in the book. And the gay, idle international set seemed somehow dated after 30 years.

How has Hemingway fared on film with his other works?

The 1932 "A Farewell to Arms" with Cooper and Helen Hays remains fond in recollection. Like most vintage films, it would probably not stand up under re-examination today.

The 1957 "Farewell" was less successful. David Selznick tried to give it "Gone With the Wind" proportions. The love story was lost, and the combination of Rock Hudson and Jennifer Jones never jelled.

"The Breaking Point" (1950) actually used the plot of "To Have and Have Not," and it was a sharp, well-knit job, especially in the dialogue. But its star, John Garfield, was on the downside, and the film was largely overlooked.

"The Killers" (1946) started out with the Hemingway short story, then lengthened on the plot in faithful style. The film was taut and skillful and notable for introducing Burt Lancaster to the screen.

"The Snows of Kilimanjaro" (1953) was a less happy expansion of a Hemingway short story.

"The Macomber Affair" (1947) was a more successful version of another great short story, "The Short Happy Life of Francis Macomber." Its one drawback was that it was shot in Baja California, Mexico, instead of Africa.

"The Old Man and The Sea" (1958) was an interesting failure. Spencer Tracy seemed perfect as the grizzled fisherman. But the bones of the poetic tale were as bare as the old man's catch. It proved unfilmable, at least as the full-blown feature it purported to be.

'Halls of Ivy' Are Fading As Colleges Go Very Modern

A far cry from the traditional "halls of ivy" campus look is this $4 million Center for Continuing Education now under construction on the University of Chicago's "Cultural Mile."

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO — As nearly four million college students — compared with only 1.1 million just 20 years ago! — stream back to the nation's campuses, the famed "halls of ivy" look, long the motif of higher education in the land, is well on the way out.

"Old Main", that venerable pseudo-Gothic structure with the chimneys to be seen as completely from the scene as did the bushy beards which once adorned stern countenances of the intellectual greats of the college world almost up to the turn of the century.

Here at the University of Chicago, for instance, they are struggling to integrate the Gothic quadrangles that were built in the 1920s

Steel Output Due To Zoom

Industry Expects
No Auto Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The steel industry will produce and ship more metal in September than in any month since April 1959, Steel Magazine said today.

"The only thing that can upset that prediction is a strike in the automotive industry — and that's not expected," the publication said. It estimated production would pass two million tons next week, the first such big week since early in June. Last week's total was 1,980,000 tons.

"There's clear evidence of a trend toward stronger demand — and it's gaining momentum," Steel said. The result is September production should exceed nine million tons and may be as much as 10 per cent higher than the 8.6 million tons the magazine estimates the industry will purr in August.

Sales executives are encouraged by the magazine noted, because the pickup is coming at a time when the biggest customers, the automakers, are hardly buying at all.

The metalworking journal made this observation on the upturn: "A small part of the current increase in production is attributed to accumulation of semi-finished steel stocks by mills. With increased business volume certain for the balance of the year, mills are seeking to bolster the working inventory. Not mentioned by the mills, but nevertheless important, such inventory can be laid down at a lower cost now than after Oct. 1 when the wage increase for Steelworkers goes into effect."

The pending clash between new and old academic atmospheres is spotlighting again the "ageless" designs of the late Frank Lloyd Wright at Florida Southern College Lakeland, Fla.

After letting the late Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, creator of the new college, persuade him to drop his monumental prejudice against universities in general (Wright once said he would like to raise millions to tear down all the colleges and universities in America!) the sage of Taliesin East spawned what was regarded as a revolutionary campus.

Yet today Wright's "organic architecture," aiming to integrate structures with their sites, is melting beautifully into the tropical Lakeland setting. High low, sweeping lines command more attention than ever before.

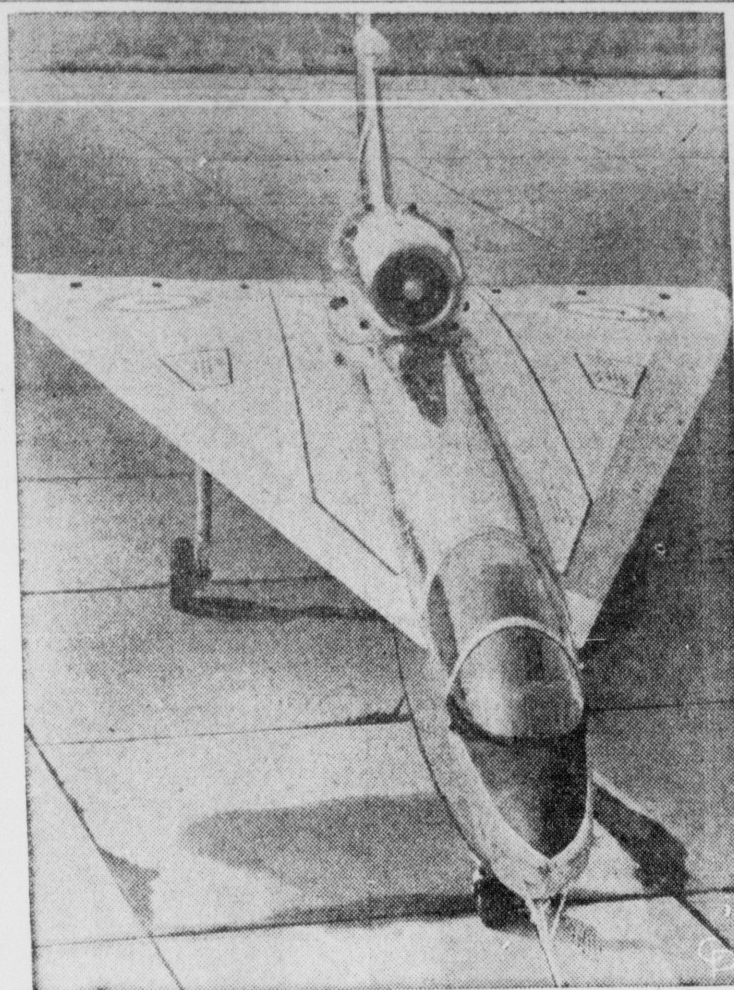

However, in a new report, the Ford Foundation predicts that 10 to 12 stories is the optimum for modern college structures. Above that they create complications of adequate elevators and the bugaboo of the gasoline age — parking space.

With less height, however, the foundation doubts that there is sufficient land utilization to be economical, even in what once was the stronghold of the "freshwater college," the small college town.

The most rigorous test of new college layouts may come soon at Sarasota, Fla., where one of the relatively few entirely new institutions founded in recent years is starting from scratch on the 21-acre estate of the late king of the circus, Charles Ringling.

Congregationalists, who are old hands at starting colleges since launching both Harvard and Yale, have invited ideas from everywhere as to what an ultra-modern university should look like. The reaction of one dyed-in-the-wool Ivy Leaguer to the flood of suggestions received so far is that they resemble, appropriately enough, a circus!

DANE MARK—Susan Baldwin, 13, Harrow, Ont., holds a jar similar to the one she threw in Lake Erie with a note, and in her other hand a letter she received in answer—from a 15-year-old boy in Denmark, no less! Men who know marine lore best feel sure Susan's jar had some help from an ocean-going freighter crewman, to get from Lake Erie to the North Sea. Anyhow, she's writing to her new friend.

HIT THE JACKPOT—Searching and combing through the Sportsman's Club in Newport, Ky., federal agents finally discovered slot machines hidden in walls behind sliding panels and secret doors. The doors opened when certain nail heads were bridged with a section of wire, starting motors.

Neff Leads Stonerock's to 10-1 Rout of AUL in Winner's Bout

Paul Neff paced Stonerock's attack with a triple and tossed a two-hitter as the TV team blasted into the championship round of the Greenfield Invitational Tournament Saturday night, turning back Columbus AUL, 10-1, on an 11-hit barrage.

The win gave Stonerock's the winner's bracket title and the right to meet the loser's division finalist this week to decide the softball extravaganza's grand champion.

Hambletonian Record Seen

13 Speedy Trotters To Go on Wednesday

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A record Hambletonian mile was freely predicted today with speed keying a compact field of 13 entered in Wednesday's blue ribbon event for 3-year-old trotters.

Leading contenders are Caleb, who matched the world record of 1:58 3-5 for horses of his age and gait in the recent Review Futurity at Springfield, Ill.; Matasar, who recently had a string of five victories while collecting a best time of 2:00 1-5, and Duke Rodney, who scored a track record triumph in the Yonkers Futurity, a mile and a sixteenth, in 2:10 3-5.

This swift trio, along with Harlan Dean and Spectator, have top ranking in the 36th Hambletonian which carries a purse of $131,573 and a winner's prize of $77,346. These amounts have been topped in the Hambletonian only once. That was last year when a field of 19 boosted the value to $144,590 and winning jackpot to $85,019.

Caleb, a strapping black-coated son of Hoot Mon, the 1947 winner, drew the No. 1 post position Sunday — a perfect spot to blast off on the rail for a shot at the Hambletonian mark of 1:59 3-5 set in heats last year by Quick Song and Hoot Frost.

Caleb's unofficial odds shortened to 4-5 after the draw. Duke Rodney drew the No. 8 post, Matasar No. 11 (right behind Caleb), Harlan Dean No. 3 and Spectator No. 7.

An Illinois law prohibits pari-mutuel betting at state fairgrounds so the Hambletonian has been wagerless since it moved from Goshen, N.Y., to Du Quoin in 1957.

Other in the field and their post positions are Speedy Princess, No. 2; Frostbite, No. 4; Meadow Farr, No. 5; Claire Sampson, No. 6; Medalist, No. 9; Behave, No. 10; Pack Hanover, No. 12, and Orbiter, No. 13.

AC Sport Club Sets Big Fete For Labor Day

Amanda - Clearcreek athletic boosters have scheduled an elaborate Labor Day celebration on the Amanda High School grounds, opening with a 10:30 a. m. parade next Monday.

A chicken barbecue will be in progress all afternoon and concerts by the Adelphi and Amanda-Clearcreek bands will be given at intervals throughout the celebration.

At 1 p. m. a pony pulling contest with prize money in each class will be held. Trophies are on tap for the lovely young misses planning to appear in the beauty pageant at 4 p. m. A formal band concert begins at 6 p. m.

Congressman Moeller will speak to the group at 9 p. m. Following his talk, drawings will be made for the awarding of a new automobile.

The boosters have slated a day "filled with pony rides, basketball games, dancing and plenty of food" with everyone welcome according to Walter Baer, general chairman.

wasted no time dismantling AUL's hurling defense, sandwiching four counters between the first and final outs in the top of the opening frame. Carl Gulick singled after Speeder Davis had started play by grounding out. Don Neff followed with a one-bagger, Bob Glick walked and Tom Turner set the scoring wheel in motion with another single.

Jack McGuire grounded out but Bob Placier singled for another run before the inning ended.

AFTER NEFF set the capital city crew down in order, Stonerock's thundered on for three markers in the second as Davis and Turner singled and the pitcher clouted his three-baser.

All was quiet through the sixth, AUL getting only one safety, hurler Sandy Hill's harmless single in the third. Placier added a single for the winners in the top of the fifth.

In the upper half of the seventh, TV broke loose again. Glick was hit by a pitch to open the inning and moved to second as Davis cracked his third single. McGuire was safe on a fielder's choice as Glick was thrown out at third and Placier racked up two RBI with a long double. Neff got in another blow, a single to bring Placier plateward with the final counter.

Neff looked like a solid bet for a shutout after he got Payne to ground out to open the last inning for AUL. Roger Graham played the spoiler role, though, climbing on a Neff delivery for a home run shot to give the losers their only tally.

Neff fanned the last two men to lock up the decision. In all he struck out 11 and walked not a man. Hill fanned two and walked one in going the route to defeat.

The TV powerhouse will play at 8 p. m. Thursday in the tourney wrapup. The locals need only one win to sew up the crown, while the loser's finalist must gain two victories to cop the title. Stonerock's opponent will be decided in loser's bracket play scheduled early this week.

IN THE meantime, Stonerock's will keep in practice with two Columbus 'A' League tilts. At 9 p. m. today the locals face Wilke's Meats and at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday Harley-Davidson provides the opposition. Both contests are slated for Southview Park in Columbus.

Browns Seek Ruling on Role Of Reservist

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Browns coach Paul Brown probably will ask Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, to rule on the Oct. 1 departure of tackle Dick Schafrath, whose Air National Guard unit has been activated.

The club faces the problem of keeping Schafrath on the roster for the first two games and playing the remaining 12 one under the player limit or with a late pickup. A special ruling might permit the team to keep one extra player.

Meanwhile, ends Jim Marshall and Rich Kreitling have received the green light to resume practice. Also, guard Jim Ray Smith's ankle injury, X-rays showed, is only a sprain.

Marshall, out almost a month from an attack of encephalitis, will be tested as an offensive tackle. He was the extra defensive end last season, but the club needs help at tackle with Schafrath leaving.

Kreitling suffered a hairline elbow fracture in the exhibition loss to Detroit. He had been working as the regular left flanker but now faces a real fight for the job from Bob Crespi, tall rookie from Mississippi who caught three passes—one for 30 yards and a touchdown—in the Browns' victory over Los Angeles Friday.

Smith, still limping badly, is not likely to face the Pittsburgh Steelers in Saturday's exhibition game in Akron.

Gahanna-Lincoln Here Tomorrow For Grid Workout

Former CHS player George Troutman, now a coach at Gahanna Lincoln High School, will bring his football crew here tomorrow for an all-day scrimmage with the Tiger squad.

The morning workout starts at 9 a. m. After GLHS gridgers are taken to local players' homes for dinner, the teams will return to the high school field about 1:30 p. m.

Head Circleville coach Carl Benhase said he was generally pleased after last week's practice with Groveport. Ends and tackles need work on downfield blocking, and ball handling must be smoother, Benhase added, but he said all the team needed now is work to "polish up what they have learned."

The first unit outscored Groveport by one touchdown, 6-0, while the second unit was scored upon twice.

Gibbs Sparkles As Stars Down Playoff Foe, 4-3

Coalton Nipped In Hurler's Bid For No-Hit Win

Dan Gibbs needed a two-out relief assist from Bobby Dean after losing his no-hit and shutout bids, but Circleville's Little League all stars held out to win 4-3 over Coalton in the Chillicothe LL Invitational yesterday.

Gibbs, who struck out 11 over his 5 1-3 inning stint, got into trouble in the top of the sixth. Meacham reached first on an error, Gibbs plunked Milliken and Gilliland wrecked Dan's bid for glory with a stinging single to plate Meacham.

It was Coalton's first safety after the Circleville ace had registered five frames of no-hit perfection. The locals scored twice in the third after failing to cash in on Bill Hill's game-opening double. Hill singled with one down in the third and George Hill came through an out later with a hard-hit double to break the scoring ice.

COALTON HURLER Meacham gave the Roundtowners a "gift" marker before the stanza ended, walking the next three straight batters to force home Hill.

Steve Dade increased the Pickaway Countians margin to 3-0 in the fourth, smacking a leadoff two-bagger and scoring as the next three men went out.

Ted Herron walked to open Circleville's half of the fifth and went to third as Jeff Steele singled and the second baseman booted the ball. He raced home after Congrove fanned and Jim Moorehead unloaded a long fly to right field.

Coalton narrowed Circleville's advantage to 4-1 as Meacham tallied in the top of the sixth. The loser's pitcher set Circleville down on three straight strikeouts in the last of the sixth.

In the top of the final frame Gibbs folded after getting Whearty on a three-strike job.

Sexton and Lucas worked him for free tickets and Meacham made a determined bid to win his own game, scoring both runners with a booming double. But Dean took over Gibbs' mound chores and throttled the rally by whiffing Milliken and Gilliland to end the tilt.

IN ALL Meacham fanned 14 and walked five. Coalton committed one error. Gibbs and Dean combined for 13 K marks while Gibbs gave up seven walks in getting credit for the win. The winners also were charged with one miscue.

Midget Racer King Loses at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—National championship quarter-midget races were held here Sunday as the youthful speedsters traveled 28 30 m.p.h. for 40 laps around the one-twentieth of a mile Thimble-drome track. Steve Craft, 13, of Indianapolis, won the race for the fastest class of midgets, Class AA open-fuel, while three-time national champ Chris Yoder, 10, of West Liberty, Ohio, finished second.

Chris won the B-modified race, however, Charlie Workman, 7, of Newark, Ohio, was the stock modified winner, and Donn Riber, 7, of Dayton, the stock winner.

In George Wilson's four years as coach of the Detroit Lions his teams have won 23 National Football League games, lost 24 and tied 2.

Cincinnati's Bounce Credited For Saving Stumbling Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—There may or may not be more bounce in the present day baseball than several years ago but no one can question the bounce in the Cincinnati Reds.

They have staggered around in slumps several times this year but they always seem to come back. Today's they're again holding a 3½ game lead in the National League.

They bounced back Sunday just when it seemed the Los Angeles Dodgers were setting them up for what might be a knockout blow.

Loser of six of their last seven games, including two to the Dodgers, the Reds were on the verge of dropping out of first place again. But they came from behind to take a 6-5 victory in the first game of a doubleheader and then won the nightcap, 8-3.

The Reds now have won seven more games than the Dodgers and the two clubs have lost the same numbers. Redleg officials contend the rest of the schedule favors them—they have more open dates in which to rest pitchers and they have only four games remaining with the current first division clubs.

"It's a funny club," Fred Hutchinson, Reds manager, said in the clubhouse as he sipped at a beer. "It bounces back. Yes, we come back pretty well."

Bill DeWitt, general manager, was jubilant.

"They surely do come back," said DeWitt. "The double victory makes things look good. It was good for us and good for the 30,195 fans at the park."

The quiet Walt Alston, Los Angeles manager, was disappointed, of course, but he was not giving up. The Dodgers and Reds don't meet again this season. Cincinnati won the year's series 12 games to 10.

Ken Johnson, who wasn't good enough for last place Kansas City in the American League but has won five games while dropping two since being obtained July 21 from Toronto, had this to say Sunday:

"These guys are just great. They field so well generally and they get the hits for you. Then, when you get into trouble there's Jim Brosnan and Bill Henry to come to your help."

Johnson, in winning the second game, got that help.

Brosnan relieved him in the eighth inning. Then in the ninth when Los Angeles filled the bases with two out, Henry took over to get the final one.

Johnson was opposed on the mound at the start by Don Drysdale. It was Drysdale's first appearance against Cincinnati since he was ejected, fined and suspended for throwing at batters in a game at Los Angeles.

This time the Reds themselves chased him—with base hits. He was taken out in the sixth.

In the first game 18-game winner Joey Jay also needed help from Brosnan, who got the victory, Henry and Jim O'Toole.

The Reds broke through Stan Williams and erased a 5-1 deficit. Gene Freese hit a three-run homer in the seventh—his 23rd. Then an error by the Dodgers' Charlie Neal in the eighth, followed by Chico Cardenas' triple and Wally Post's pinch-hit double won it.

Cincinnati never was headed in the second game after Vada Pinson's first-inning homer with a runner on base.

Hebert Wins Uneasily in Akron Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jay Hebert, admitting he started whistling too soon, won the $50,000 American Golf Classic Sunday by defeating Gary Player on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Hebert, the Louisianan playing out of Miami, Fla., did it the hard way in gaining first prize of $9,000. He held a five-stroke lead over Player with nine holes left, blew it and then sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th hole to force a playoff.

Two holes later, he scored a birdie four on the 500-yard par 5 No. 2 hole to defeat Player, who took second prize of $4,600 to boost his earnings this year to over $60,000, tops among the pros.

"I was whistling when we teed off on the 10th," said Hebert, "but when I double bogied the 11th, I knew I had started whistling too soon."

Player began to apply the pressure and by the time they reached the 625-yard par 5 16th, Hebert was only two strokes ahead. Player birdied the hole and took the lead as Hebert ran into another double bogey.

Both parred the 17th and on the 18th Player missed a 35-footer by inches. Hebert went up to his ball and dropped a 20-footer to bring on the playoff.

Two holes later, Hebert, winner of the 1960 PGA championship over this same 7,165-yard Firestone course, clinched the victory.

Neff Leads Stonerock's to 10-1 Rout of AUL in Winner's Bout

Paul Neff paced Stonerock's attack with a triple and tossed a two-hitter as the TV team blasted into the championship round of the Greenfield Invitational Tournament Saturday night, turning back Columbus AUL, 10-1, on an 11-hit barrage.

The win gave Stonerock's the winner's bracket title and the right to meet the loser's division finalist this week to decide the softball extravaganza's grand champion.

Hambletonian Record Seen

13 Speedy Trotters To Go on Wednesday

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A record Hambletonian mile was freely predicted today with speed keying a compact field of 13 entered in Wednesday's blue ribbon event for 3-year-old trotters.

Leading contenders are Caleb, who matched the world record of 1:58 3-5 for horses of his age and gait in the recent Review Futurity at Springfield, Ill.; Mastatar, who recently had a string of five victories while collecting a best time of 2:00 1-5, and Duke Rodney, who scored a track record triumph in the Yonkers Futurity, a mile and a sixteenth, in 2:10 3-5.

This swift trio, along with Harlan Dean and Spectator, have top ranking in the 36th Hambletonian which carries a purse of $131,573 and a winner's prize of $77,346. These amounts have been topped in the Hambletonian only once. That was last year when a field of 19 boosted the value to $144,590 and winning jackpot to $85,019.

Caleb, a strapping black-coated son of Hoot Mon, the 1947 winner, drew the No. 1 post position Sunday — a perfect spot to blast off on the rail for a shot at the Hambletonian mark of 1:59 3-5 set in heats last year by Quick Song and Hoot Frost.

Caleb's unofficial odds shortened to 4-5 after the draw. Duke Rodney drew the No. 8 post, Mastatar No. 11 (right behind Caleb), Harlan Dean No. 3 and Spectator No. 7.

An Illinois law prohibits pari-mutuel betting at state fairgrounds so the Hambletonian has been wagersless since it moved from Goshen, N.Y., to Du Quoin in 1957.

Other in the field and their post positions are Speedy Princess, No. 2; Frostbite, No. 4; Meadow Farr, No. 5; Claire Sampson, No. 6; Medalist, No. 9; Behave, No. 10; Pack Hanover, No. 12, and Orbiter, No. 13.

AC Sport Club Sets Big Fete For Labor Day

Amanda - Clearcreek athletic boosters have scheduled an elaborate Labor Day celebration on the Amanda High School grounds, opening with a 10:30 a. m. parade next Monday.

A chicken barbecue will be in progress all afternoon and concerts by the Adelphi and Amanda-Clearcreek bands will be given at intervals throughout the celebration.

At 1 p. m. a pony pulling contest with prize money in each class will be held. Trophies are on tap for the lovely young misses planning to appear in the beauty pageant at 4 p. m. A formal band concert begins at 6 p. m.

Congressman Moeller will speak to the group at 9 p. m. Following his talk, drawings will be made for the awarding of a new automobile.

The boosters have slated a day "filled with pony rides, basketball games, dancing and plenty of food" with everyone welcome according to Walter Baer, general chairman.

wasted no time dismantling AUL's hurling defense, sandwiching four counters between the first and final outs in the top of the opening frame. Carl Gulick singled after Speeder Davis had started play by grounding out. Don Neff followed with a one-bagger, Bob Glick walked and Tom Turner set the scoring wheel in motion with another single.

Jack McGuire grounded out but Bob Placier singled for another run before the inning ended.

AFTER NEFF set the capital city crew down in order, Stonerock's thundered on for three markers in the second as Davis and Turner singled and the pitcher clouted his three-baser.

All was quiet through the sixth, AUL getting only one safety, hurler Sandy Hill's harmless single in the third. Placier added a single for the winners in the top of the fifth.

In the upper half of the seventh, TV broke loose again. Glick was hit by a pitch to open the inning and moved to second as Turner cracked his third single. McGuire was safe on a fielder's choice as Glick was thrown out at third and Placier racked up two RBI with a long double. Neff got in another blow, a single to bring Placier plateward with the final counter.

Neff looked like a solid bet for a shutout after he got Payne to ground out to open the last inning for AUL. Roger Graham played the spoiler role, though, climbing on a Neff delivery for a home run shot to give the losers their only tally.

Neff fanned the last two men to lock up the decision. In all he struck out 11 and walked not a man. Hill fanned two and walked no one in going the route to defeat.

The TV powerhouse will play at 8 p. m. Thursday in the tourney wrapup. The locals need only one win to sew up the crown, while the loser's finalist must gain two victories to cop the title. Stonerock's opponent will be decided in loser's bracket play scheduled early this week.

IN THE meantime, Stonerock's will keep in practice with two Columbus 'A' League tilts. At 9 p. m. today the locals face Wilke's Meats and at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday Harley-Davidson provides the opposition. Both contests are slated for Southview Park in Columbus.

Browns Seek Ruling on Role Of Reservist

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Browns coach Paul Brown probably will ask Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, to rule on the Oct. 1 departure of tackle Dick Schafrath, whose Air National Guard unit has been activated.

The club faces the problem of keeping Schafrath on the roster for the first two games and playing the remaining 12 one under the player limit or with a late pickup. A special ruling might permit the team to keep one extra player.

Meanwhile, ends Jim Marshall and Rich Kreitling have received the green light to resume practice. Also, guard Jim Ray Smith's ankle injury, X-rays showed, is only a sprain.

Marshall, out almost a month from an attack of encephalitis, will be tested as an offensive tackle. He was the extra defensive end last season, but the club needs help at tackle with Senafrath leaving.

Kreitling suffered a hairline elbow fracture in the exhibition loss to Detroit. He had been working as the regular left flanker but now faces a real fight for the job from Bob Crespino, tall rookie from Mississippi who caught three passes—one for 30 yards and a touchdown—in the Browns' victory over Los Angeles Friday.

Smith, still limping badly, is not likely to face the Pittsburgh Steelers in Saturday's exhibition game in Akron.

Gahanna-Lincoln Here Tomorrow For Grid Workout

Former CHS player George Troutman, now a coach at Gahanna Lincoln High School, will bring his football crew here tomorrow for an all-day scrimmage with the Tiger squad.

The morning workout starts at 9 a. m. After GLHS gridgers are taken to local players' homes for dinner, the teams will return to the high school field about 1:30 p. m.

Head Circleville coach Carl Benhase said he was generally pleased after last week's practice with Groveport. Ends and tackles need work on downfield blocking, and ball handling must be smoother, Benhase added, but he said all the team needed now is work to "polish up what they have learned."

The first unit outscored Groveport by one touchdown, 6-0, while the second unit was scored upon twice.

Gibbs Sparkles As Stars Down Playoff Foe, 4-3

Coalton Nipped In Hurler's Bid For No-Hit Win

Dan Gibbs needed a two-out relief assist from Bobby Dean after losing his no-hit and shutout bids, but Circleville's Little League all stars held out to win 4-3 over Coalton in the Chillicothe LL Invitational yesterday.

Gibbs, who struck out 11 over his 5 1-3 inning stint, got into trouble in the top of the sixth. Meacham reached first on an error, Gibbs plunked Milliken and Gilliland wrecked Dan's bid for glory with a stinging single to plate Meacham.

It was Coalton's first safety after the Circleville ace had registered five frames of no-hit perfection. The locals scored twice in the third after failing to cash in on Bill Hill's game-opening double. Hill singled with one down in the third and George Hill came through an out later with a hard-hit double to break the scoring ice.

COALTON HURLER Meacham gave the Roundtowners a "gift" marker before the stanza ended, walking the next three straight batters to force home Hill.

Steve Dade increased the Pickaway Countians margin to 3-0 in the fourth, smacking a leadoff two-bagger and scoring as the next three men went out.

Ted Herron walked to open Circleville's half of the fifth and went to third as Jeff Steele singled and the second baseman booted the ball. He raced home after Congrove fanned and Jim Moorehead unloaded a long fly to right field.

Coalton narrowed Circleville's advantage to 4-1 as Meacham tallied in the top of the sixth. The loser's pitcher set Circleville down on three straight strikeouts in the last of the sixth.

In the top of the final frame Gibbs folded after getting Wheathy on a three-strike job.

Sexton and Lucas worked him for free tickets and Meacham made a determined bid to win his own game, scoring both runners with a booming double. But Dean took over Gibbs' mound chores and throttled the rally by whiffing Milliken and Gilliland to end the tilt.

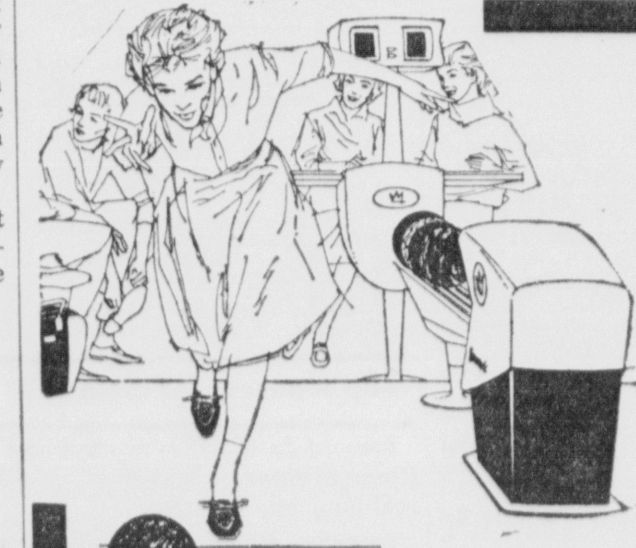

IN ALL Meacham fanned 14 and walked five. Coalton committed one error, Gibbs and Dean combined for 13 K marks while Gibbs gave up seven walks in getting credit for the win. The winners also were charged with one miscue.

Hebert Wins Uneasily in Akron Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jay Hebert, admitting he started whistling too soon, won the $50,000 American Golf Classic Sunday by defeating Gary Player on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Hebert, the Louisianan playing out of Miami, Fla., did it the hard way in gaining first prize of $9,000. He held a five-stroke lead over Player with nine holes left, blew it and then sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th hole to force a playoff.

"I was whistling when we teed off on the 10th," said Hebert, "but when I double bogied the 11th, I knew I had started whistling too soon."

Player began to apply the pressure and by the time they reached the 625-yard par 5 16th, Hebert was only two strokes ahead. Player birdied the hole and took the lead as Hebert ran into another double bogey.

Both parred the 17th and on the 18th Player missed a 35-footer by inches. Hebert went up to his ball and dropped a 20-footer to bring on the playoff.

Two holes later, Hebert, winner of the 1960 PGA championship over this same 7,165-yard Firestone course, clinched the victory.

IN THE PROBATE COURT PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO

Mary E. Brown, Administratrix of the Estate of Elmer C. Brown, deceased, vs. Noah Brown, et al., DEFENDANTS.

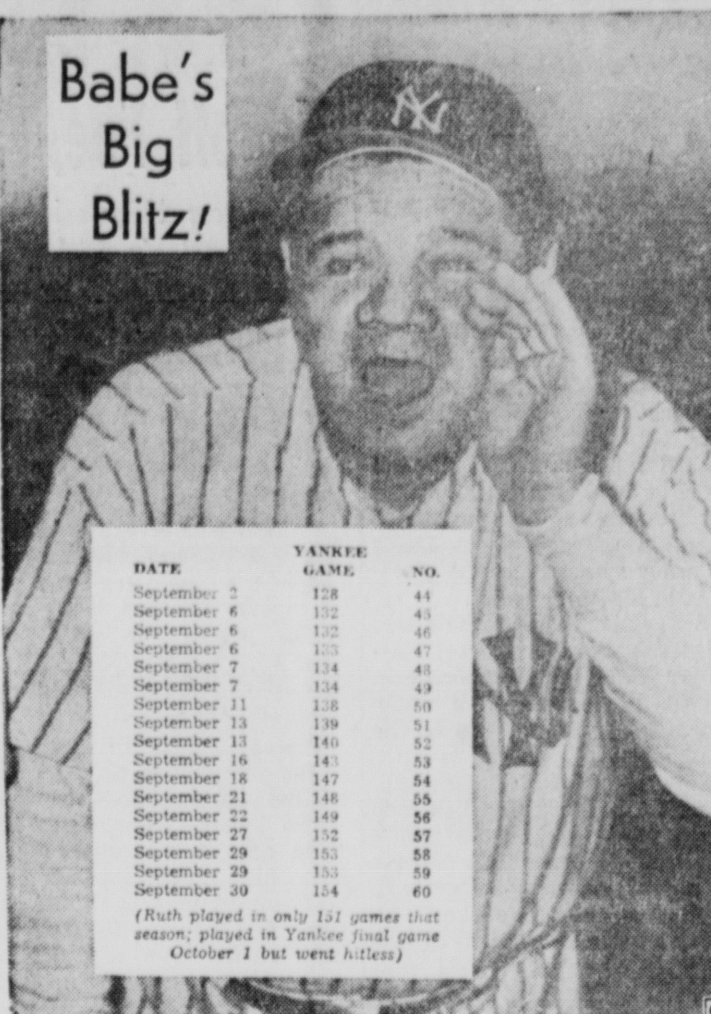

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE In pursuance of the order of the Probate Court, Pickaway County, Ohio, I will offer for sale at Public Auction on the Fourth day of September 1961 at 2:00 o'clock P. M. on the premises located in Clever Creek Township, Fairfield County, Ohio the following described real estate situated in the City of Circleville, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio as follows: PARCEL ONE: Being sixty feet of the south end of Lot No. 276 according to the revised numbering of the lots of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

Also the following real estate situated in the Township of Clever Creek, County of Fairfield and State of Ohio and bounded and described as follows: PARCEL TWO: Being a part of the Northwest Quarter of Section No. 3, Township No. 12, Range No. 20, and beginning at a stone on the Township line at the Northeast corner of the lands of the late John Hammett, deceased, now owned by the heirs of the late N. C. Marion, deceased, eighty-four poles and one link East from the Northwest corner of said Section 3; thence South with the line of said N. C. Marion land, nineteen poles and six links to a stone; thence East thirty-three poles and six links to the place of beginning, containing four acres of land, more or less.

For reference see Deed Book 221, page 507, Fairfield County Records. Parcel One above described is appraised at $2,000.00 and Parcel Two above described is appraised at $5,000.00 and both of said parcels must be sold for not less than two-thirds of said appraised value and the terms of the sale are ten per cent of purchase price to be paid on day of sale and the balance in full of said purchase price to be paid upon the delivery of the deed.

MARY E. BROWN, ADMINISTRATRIX OF THE ESTATE OF ELMER C. BROWN, DECEASED, July 31, August 7, 14, 21, 28.

Tribe Drops Double Bill To Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Nieman got the 1,000th hit of his major league career Sunday, but there was little else for the Cleveland Indians to cheer about. They dropped a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox, 10-6 and 9-3.

The twin kill gave the Sox a sweep of the four-game series and put them four games up on the Indians in the battle for fourth place in the American League.

It also meant the Indians lost the season series to Chicago, 12-6, dropping eight of the nine games played here.

Nieman, a right-handed hitter, started in left field in place of southpaw swinger Tito Francona against left-hander Billy Pierce in Sunday's opener. His 1,000th hit, a double to left center in the first inning, scored Jim Piersall, who had doubled.

The Sox came back with two runs in their first, then hammered starter Jim Grant and Frank Funk for six in the sixth to nail the victory.

Nellie Fox and Jim Landis singled to start the winning rally. Roy Sievers doubled one run home and after Minnie Minoso was purposely walked, Al Smith singled in two runs, routing Grant. Funk retired Luis Aparicio but an intentional walk to Sherm Lollar filled the bases and Floyd Robinson cleared them with a triple.

Grant hit his first home run of the year and Willie Kirkland drove in three of the Indians' runs with his 23rd homer and a triple.

The loss was Grant's eighth in 20 decisions. Winner was Turk Lown (7-5), who relieved Pierce in the third inning.

Home runs by Smith and Sievers were the big blows in the second game. Smith hit his 23rd in the fifth inning and Sievers' 24th with a man on in the sixth broke a 2-2 tie.

Hillsboro Farmer Wins Crown Again

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — Joe Hiestand, 50-year-old Hillsboro, Ohio, farmer broke 98 of 100 Saturday to win the national doubles championship at the 62nd Grand American Trapshoot.

He finished a target ahead of six others as he picked up the twin city title for the fourth time. He had won previously in 1936, 1956 and 1958.

Deadlocked for second were defending champion Dale F. Millar of Ashville, Ohio; J. Hock Nichols of Jefferson City, Tenn.; John Sternberger of Englewood, Ohio; R. L. Pleasanton of Magnolia, Del.; Bobbie Lee Stifal of Casey, Ill., and George C. Higgins of Sacramento, Calif., all with 97.

Alabama will be seeking to tie a 60-year-old series Oct. 21 when it meets Tennessee for the 44th time on the gridiron. The Crimson Tide has beaten the Vols 18 times, lost 19. Six games have ties.

Hoffa Clashes With Cincinnati Union Leader

Teamster Chieftain Seeks To Derail Queen City Rebellion

CINCINNATI (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, pooh-poohing the possibility of any national trend to unseat him, flew in here Sunday and confronted the leader of a rebelling faction — a man who says Hoffa is using the union to gain "personal wealth and power."

The Teamsters chief came face to face with James Luken, who has led four Cincinnati locals to bolt the Hoffa regime and declare intentions of joining the AFL-CIO.

The two never shook hands and sat on opposite sides of a hotel room as they answered questions and explained their viewpoints during a joint press conference.

Later, Hoffa addressed a crowd estimated at 1,200 at Cincinnati's Music Hall and stated:

"The reason you joined a union was union—unity for strength, unity for bargaining effectively. Splintering this unity can only satisfy the bosses and lead to more anti-labor legislation."

Then he asked: "Can all 1½ million members of our International be wrong? Or is there someone behind this man (Luken) who is urging you to destroy collective bargaining, (now) on a basis of solidarity in Cincinnati?"

While a brass band was playing in the Music Hall prior to Hoffa's arrival, Luken, president of the 2,200-member dairy drivers local, was on television. He told his audience that he and his associates had decided to revolt only after giving up all hope of reform within the Teamsters Union.

Speaking of Hoffa, Luken declared:

"We could not believe that any one man, through money, connivance and press-agent magic, could capture a national union and convert it to his own private instrument for personal wealth and power."

"We could not believe that the efforts of underworld characters to dominate large segments of the union could go unchecked."

Luken denied he led the 4,000-man Teamster revolt because of personal hostility toward Hoffa.

The Dairy Drivers, Soft Drink Drivers, Funeral Livory Drivers and Taxicab Drivers locals here voted 11 days ago to disaffiliate with the Teamsters.

A court test is pending on the Teamsters' constitution, and the decision—whether the local can take its assets when it disaffiliates or if they remain property of the International under trusteeship—may determine whether the rebellion succeeds.

In 1953-54, before Hoffa succeeded Dave Beck as Teamsters president, "We resisted efforts of known hoodlums and racketeers to come to this area and, in their words, 'take over,'" Luken told his TV audience.

Later, he said, he and his local complained to Hoffa about the efforts of a racketeer to muscle in. Luken said Hoffa told the local's officials they had "better wise up" if they wanted to "get ahead in the Teamsters Union—they had better start playing ball and getting along with these people."

Earlier, at the news conference, Luken made plain his enmity for Hoffa. "The Teamsters Union is now controlled by one man," Luken said. "Frankly, I don't approve of that one man and the small group around him, his ideas about unionism and the way he practices it."

Late Registration Day Set On Friday for Kindergarten

Friday has been reserved as late registration day for kindergarten pupils in Circleville.

A parent or guardian should accompany the kindergarten pupil to one of three kindergarten centers — Atwater, Franklin or Walnut Schools — for registration.

School administrators said Circleville's kindergartens are full, with 60 students assigned to each teacher. Eight late registrants are on a waiting list.

Officials said pupils registering Friday also will be placed on a waiting list.

SOME dropouts due to people moving away are expected. It is the desire of the board of education to assign pupils from the waiting list to the center where the dropouts occur as soon as possible.

The board hopes to be able to accommodate all parents of pupils with available kindergarten space

13 Denver Cops Indicted

Colorado Burglary Scandal Widens

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—As two officers watched from their police cruiser, a safe tumbled from the trunk of a moving car on a downtown street. The officers gave chase, halted the car and questioned its two occupants.

The driver was Arthur Winstanley, 24, a Denver policeman. His passenger was Eugene Haas, a former deputy sheriff in suburban Arapahoe County.

From that bizarre beginning 16 months ago has come a widening scandal which has reached deep into the 770-man Denver police department, outraged community leaders and led to a full-scale state investigation.

So far, 13 Denver policemen have been indicted on burglary charges. Five have been convicted, including Winstanley, who is serving a 4-to-8 year term in the Colorado Penitentiary at Canon City. Two other officers have pleaded no contest. Six are awaiting trial.

Also involved is Sheriff Robert Roberts of Adams County, bordering Denver on the north. A former FBI agent, he is accused of aiding Denver police burglars to plan and conduct safe-cracking jobs in this heavily industrialized county. He will go on trial Oct. 17 at suburban Brighton.

Gov. Steve McNichols stepped into the controversy last week at the request of Mayor Dick Bitterton and other Denver officials who complained that overlapping regulations and red tape are hampering the city's cleanup efforts.

McNichols and Atty. Gen. Duke W. Dunbar are expected early this week to choose a man to head the state's investigation. The likely candidate is Anthony S. Reeder, 54, a retired FBI agent who now heads the security force at the Coors brewery and industrial complex at Golden.

The sheriff's offices in all three suburban counties have been, or are now being investigated by grand juries.

East German Policeman Slips over to Freedom

BRAUNSCHWEIG, Germany (AP)—A 28-year-old East German border policeman slipped into West Germany Sunday night while patrolling the Iron Curtain border and has asked for political asylum, Western border guards reported today.

A second defection to the West was reported by Bavarian Border Patrol headquarters, which said an East German border guard crossed near Pressig, wearing his full uniform and carrying his arms.

Savings Bonds Get Extension

Pickaway County Savings Bonds Chairman William D. Radcliff announced that an automatic 10-year extension has been given to Series H United States Savings Bonds.

The extension applies to those H Bonds purchased between June 1952 and January 1957. The interest rate in the extension period will be a straight 3-¾ per cent annually. The first H Bonds to qualify for the 10 year extension are those which will reach maturity in February 1962.

Radcliff also pointed out that these H Bonds were originally issued in 1952 to pay an average of three per cent annually for the 9-year and 8-month life of the bond.
